Allies, Russia Have Dealt Nazis Staggering Blows Says Churchill Victory-Through-Air-Power Theory Gets Acid Test Against Deadline

By GEORGE ZIELKE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—(AP)—The victory-through-air-power theory is getting an acid test against Germany with a definite deadline—a time limit after which, if the effort fails, a ground invasion of western Europe will go forward.

The actual timetable is, of course, a military secret.

But the deadline is the invasion date which was communicated to the Russians. Gen. H. H. Arnold, commander of U.S. air forces, and Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur T. Harris, head of the R.A.F. bomber command, have until that time to try to force Germany's surrender by use of air power alone.

Sir Arthur Harris in a speech last week promised 90 Nazi war centres should be shattered.

The theory here is that if 40 per cent. of Germany's productive capacity is knocked out, she must quit.

Use of Russian bases for shuttle-bombing of Germany may be involved in the truly-all-out aerial assault expected to reach a climax shortly.

Roosevelt Says:

Post-War Relief Agreement Shows Allies 'Mean Business'

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—President Roosevelt today hailed a relief and rehabilitation agreement signed at the White House by 44 nations as proof that "we mean business in this war in a political and humanitarian sense just as surely as we mean business in a military sense."

Hopes High For Workable Labor Code in Canada

By GRANT DEXTER
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, Nov. 9.—The Dominion-provincial conference on labor relations has run smack into the British North America Act but hope is still high that a workable national labor code may emerge from the conclave which opened here yesterday.

At the outset, the Quebec delegation came out bluntly against any invasion of provincial rights by the federal government. The position taken by spokesmen for French Canada was roughly this: Quebec will co-operate to the hilt with the Dominion government on labor matters. Let the Dominion tell the province what it wants done for the duration of the war and Quebec will see to it that it is done. But Quebec will not agree to the intrusion of a federal labor authority into the field in which provincial authority holds sway.

While the other provinces will go along with the Dominion in the setting up of a national labor code, considerable difference of opinion has arisen as to the best way of bringing such a code into practical operation.

DOMINION PLAN

The Dominion plan, which was lifted in part from the national labor relations act of the United States—the Wagner act—would operate as follows: A five man national labor relations board would be the final authority and under it there would be regional boards. In

The President spoke from the ornate east room a few minutes after representatives of the 33 United Nations and 11 associated nations signed an agreement setting up the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration. These delegates will convene in Atlantic City tomorrow to work out details of what is to be done under the agreement.

Mindful that the action came shortly after the momentous declarations of Moscow, Roosevelt told the delegates and a nation-wide radio audience that the agreement was "one more strong link" binding the United Nations in facing mutual problems.

MUST BALANCE WORLD

"The sufferings of the little men and women who have been ground under the Axis heel," he said, "can be relieved only if we utilize the production of all the world to balance the want of all the world.

"In U.N.R.R.A. we have devised a mechanism, based on the processes of true democracy, which can go far toward accomplishment of such an objective in the days and months of desperate emergency which will follow the overthrow of the Axis.

The President said the agreement was demonstrative of the spirit and the positive action of the United Nations "at the time when our military power is be-

Churchill Praises Allied Newspapers

LONDON, Nov. 9.—(CP)—Prime Minister Churchill today praised British and United States newspapers for their "very full and vivid information from all theatres of war."

His statement came in reply to a question in the House of Commons as to whether the Allies had reached a stage in the war where more detailed news accounts could be published. Although he made no direct answer, the prime minister's laudation seemed to imply that he thought present accounts sufficient.

Viscount Hinchinbrooke, Conservative, indicated he thought the American public was better informed of the progress of the war than the British.

Three Candidates Placed in Field For Portage Seat

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man., Nov. 9.—(CP)—Three candidates were nominated here yesterday to contest the Portage La Prairie provincial by-election Nov. 18. They were Mayor H. A. Ireland, C.C.F., Charles E. Greenlay, Government Coalition and LAC. Bernard Nuller, Labor-Progressive. The by-election was necessitated by the death of W. R. (Toby) Sexsmith, Government Coalition member in the Manitoba legislative assembly.

Reds Seek to Trap 500,000 Germans

By HENRY SHAPIRO

MOSCOW, Nov. 9.—A Red army mobile column wheeled southward from the rapidly expanding Kiev bridgehead today and sliced into the flank of the lower Dnieper pocket in a big attempt to trap 500,000 Germans making a desperate rear guard stand before the approaches to Rumania.

Soviet field dispatches described a three-pronged Russian offensive spreading up to 45 miles beyond Kiev, threatening the last longitudinal railway east of prewar Poland, and denting the flank of the German forces holding the Dnieper bend country.

The formidable Russian forces were reported sweeping southward against the Kremenchug-Dnepropetrovsk bulge, in which the Nazis had staved off imminent disaster with a back to the wall defence hinged on Krivoi Rog.

(A German communique said the fighting on the Kiev front had increased in ferocity, particularly south and west of the town, where the Russians gained ground "slowly in the face of determined resistance.")

Driving beyond Fastov, a tank force reached points 45 miles south-

City Receives Small Amounts Coal Supplies

Drain on coal reserves at the Edmonton power plant continues as supplise available are insufficient to meet the operation consumption, and on Tuesday morning the coal stock pile had dwindled to 3,400 tons, according to Robert G. Watson, power superintendent. He anticipated that with supplies forthcoming from various sources that the city plant will be able to continue operations.

Several truck loads were delivered to the plant from different sources on Monday, and further supplies are expected to reach the plant later this week. The coal on hand is being conserved as much as possible and the city-wide dimout has helped the situation to a marked degree. This dimout will continue until the mines are again in operation, city commissioners stated.

R. J. Gibb, city commissioner, stated that some coal had been obtained from city stock piles, and it

Absenteeism

Cost-of-Living Bonus Increase May Cause Snag

By GRANT DEXTER
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, Nov. 9.—Reports are reaching the finance department to the effect that the increased cost-of-living bonus, which will add 35 cents a week to the income of wage earners, will bring some people within the income tax range and may well result in absenteeism.

The information, generally, indicates that a substantial group of workers who have hitherto been exempt from the income tax will now become taxable and that the amount of the tax will more than offset the increase in income gain by the increase in bonus. Experts of the finance department say that it is untrue that any worker will lose the whole of the increase but that a number will only gain a part of it and will have to pay the balance to the treasury as a tax. There is no intention, however, of taking any steps to increase the exemption or lessen the tax on such people and it is hoped that there will be no increase in absenteeism on this account.

There has also been a renewal of the demand for the exempting of the cost-of-living bonus and of overtime pay from the income tax. But, again, there is no intention of taking action along these lines. These are complaints which were rife last spring and which were dealt with by Mr. Ilsley in the house of commons. It is true that he modified the buget taxation provision slightly to meet a somewhat similar situation with regard to the income tax, but the officials do not see any need of further action as a result of the increase in the bonus.

Another point which has repeatedly been raised is whether or no the income tax department is really serious in demanding that housewives make income tax deduction from the wages paid to domestic servants and charwomen. Officially the answer is an emphatic affirmative. Unofficially, it is pointed out, that there have been no precautions to date and it is widely doubted if the law has been rigidly adhered to.

Details were not available, but a report to police headquarters said that the child's mother was slightly burned as she made an effort to rescue the tot. No inquest will be held, it was announced.

Allied Forces At Approaches New Nazi Line

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, ALGIERS, Nov. 9.—Allied armies have reached the approaches of what German prisoners described as the Nazi "winter line" protecting Rome, it was announced today, as British and Canadian troops pounded ahead on a 25-mile front to capture towns overlooking the Sangro river.

The Allies' armies had reached the approaches to the new German defences at practically all points the Eighth army on the west hacking forward five miles near the Adriatic in the greatest push.

(A broadcast of the United Nations radio at Algiers, heard in London, said that one-third of all Italy now has been cleared of Germans.)

OVERCOME OBSTACLES

The gains were made despite demolitions before Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's Eighth army troops, who were within 25 miles of the important Adriatic port of Pescara, and torrential rains on the Anglo-American Fifth Army front.

An Allied commentator quoted German prisoners as reporting the Nazi high command was trying to hold back the Allied march toward Rome on a line at the Sangro on the east, at the Gari-

Count's Wife Gives Evidence In Oakes Case

By E. V. W. JONES

NASSAU, Bahamas, Nov. 9.—(AP)—After Nancy Oakes de Marigny testified in behalf of her husband, the defence rested its case today in the trial of de Marigny for murder in connection with the slaying of Sir Harry Oakes.

There was immediate overnight adjournment, on the motion of Chief Defence Attorney Godfrey Higgs.

The end of the testimony came in the 12th day of the trial in the Bahamas Supreme Court.

The case will go to the jury tomorrow or Thursday, depending upon the amount of time consumed in attorneys' summation and the charge by the chief justice, Sir Osbert Bedford Hill.

HUSBAND WEEPS

The 19-year-old Nancy told of the relations between her father and her husband who wept softly in the prisoner's cage as she started her testimony.

Chief Defence Attorney Godfrey Higgs questioned her.

Find Contraband On Neutral Ships

LONDON, Nov. 9.—British warships stopped five neutral ships en route from South America to the Iberian peninsula and escorted them to a control base where material described as contraband was found in their cargo, it was announced today.

The ministry of economic warfare said that almost $50,000 worth of platinum and considerable quantities of special foods and medicines were found aboard the ships. The cargoes were understood to have been loaded at Buenos Aires.

"Several ships have been released and allowed to proceed without the "contraband," the official announcement said.

The others will be released unless evidence is found that their masters or crewmen were involved in the carrying of contraband, the announcement said.

The ministry did not specify the registry of the ships, but all were understood to be Spanish.

The Role of The Communist Party

—By Joseph Stalin—

Translated, Abridged and Edited by Elias Tobenkin

Article X.

In his defense of the Second International (1889-1914) Karl Kautsky said that the parties affiliated with it were an instrument of peace and for that reason were in no position to undertake vital action during the period of the First World War and the proletarian uprisings which followed. This is entirely true. But what does it mean? It means that the parties of the Second International were not suited for revolutionary struggle of the proletariat, that they were not militant parties but election implements suitable only for the promotion of parliamentary campaigns.

It is scarcely necessary to prove that under such circumstances and with such parties in the lead there could be no talk of preparing the proletariat for revolution.

Matters changed radically with the dawn of the new period—the period of open class conflicts, of revolutionary uprisings by the proletariat, of the direct mustering of forces for the overthrow of imperialism and the seizure of the government by the proletariat. The task confronting the proletariat in this new period was the reorganization of all party work on a new revolutionary basis, of educating the workers in a spirit of revolutionary struggle for power. In addition there were the problems of forging a link with the proletariat of the neighboring states, of establishing

MR. JUSTICE W. R. HOWSON

OTTAWA, Nov. 9.—(CP)—Federal orders appointing three high court judges in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba as appeal judges under the revised Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act have been approved, F.C.A.A. officials said today.

The judges, who attended conferences with finance department officials here last week, are Mr. Justice W. R. Howson, Alberta; Chief Justice J. T. Brown, Saskatchewan; and Chief Justice E. A. McPherson, Manitoba.

The new system of administration will go into effect when the revised act is proclaimed, probably early in December.

Switch Is Cause

Thousands Walk From West End As Trams Stop

Thousands of West End and Calder district residents walked to work Tuesday morning because of a tie-up on the street railway service to those districts.

It is understood that the cause of the early morning tie-up resulted from a misunderstanding between two civic departments concerning the pulling of a switch that turned off power in the district affected.

The tie-up started with the derailment of a street car at 125 avenue and 127 street on Monday, it being necessary to request the United States Engineers to supply a derrick to place the street car on trackage again. It was considered that some damage was done to the power circuit during operations replacing the tram, but inspection of the line and circuit breakers failed to disclose any break in the power supply. It was then found that the switch control on the power supply had been pulled, and no power was flowing through the lines.

Street railway officials stated on Tuesday that the derailment in the Calder area was caused through excessive speed approaching a switch. The motorman on this car has been suspended pending investigation.

SECOND CASE

A second derailment took place at the intersection of 107 avenue and 124 street when a street car making a wye at this intersection backed through a switch. The service to Calder and throughout the west end was restored to normal shortly after 9 a.m., Thomas Ferrier, street railway superintendent, stated.

Motorists came to the assistance of those stranded on street corners waiting for street cars, and every car passing on Jasper avenue was loaded to capacity.

De Gaulle had been co-president with Giraud.

The position of Gen. Giraud as commander-in-chief of French forces is unchanged. The radio added the composition of the French committee was changed and its governmental authority re-defined.

Climax of European War Likely to Come Some Time in 1944

By WILLIAM B. DICKINSON
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
Copyright, 1943, by British United Press

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The Allies have broken the back of the U-boat war, inflicted "shattering damage" on German cities and the Russians have dealt the Nazis blows "which may well prove mortal," Prime Minister Winston Churchill said today.

Speaking at the Mansion House luncheon in honor of the new Lord Mayor of London, Sir Frank Newson-Smith, the Prime Minister said these blows against the Reich "may well be the precursor of decisive events."

"We and our American Allies have done, and are doing, our best to bring our forces across the seas and oceans into action against the enemy," Churchill said. He added that in the Pacific "many brilliant actions have been recorded and the strength of Japan has been steadily and remorselessly worn down."

Climax in 1944 Unless Mistake Made

"It is a reasonable assumption," Churchill said, "that unless we make some grave mistake in strategy the year 1944 will see the climax of the European war."

But he warned against over-confidence, saying that Hitler still had 400 divisions available and "they are incomparably stronger than anything available to the late Kaiser."

"A great many speak as if the end of the European war is near," Churchill said. "I hope they are right . . . we should, however, be foolish and blameworthy if we allowed our plans of action to be based upon the prospects of an early collapse of Germany."

Face Greatest Sacrifice of Life

Referring to the stern tasks ahead of the Allies, Churchill said: "Unless some happy event occurs on which we have no right to count, 1944 will see the greatest sacrifice of life by the British and Americans . . . battles far larger than Waterloo and Gettysburg will be fought."

He said the recent agreement among the United States, Great Britain, Russia and China was an "all important one" which looks to "the foundation of future peace." He paid tribute to Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and to U.S. Secretary of State Cordell Hull to whom he referred as "that gallant old eagle."

The luncheon was a colorful ceremony. Churchill was escorted to the famous Egyptian hall by a guard of honor wearing crimson leather jerkins, steel breast-plates and helmets. They carried 12-foot pikes. Among the guests were Mrs. Churchill and Premier Jan Smuts of the Union of South Africa.

Recalling the pledge to free all conquered countries, which was given in November, 1940, when Britain stood alone, he said he saw no reason to modify it.

He said Britain, the Dominions and America had cleared Africa, and together British and U.S. armies had conquered Sicily, Corsica and the heel of Italy.

Break Back of U-Boat Warfare

"We have broken the back of the U-boat war," he said,

Urge All to Vote

Civic Election Campaign Concludes As Candidates Speak at Two Meetings

The curtain was rung down on the municipal election campaign Monday night with 79 persons attending meetings at the Memorial Hall and Norwood school, traditional venues for the closing meetings.

There were 55 persons in attendance at the Memorial Hall and 24 at the Norwood school. Numerous questions were asked at the Memorial Hall meeting, and W. "Paddy" Griffin, the chairman, on several occasions had to tell the questioners to stop making speeches and confine themselves to questions. At the Norwood meeting, E. E. Owen, chairman, had an extremely easy task, not a single question being asked.

Housing, a lively subject with the candidates throughout the campaign, became the topic of questions at the Memorial Hall with members of the audience asking if the candidates favored the introduction of a municipal housing plan, and rehabilitation plans for men and women returning from the armed forces and war industry. All candidates were of the opinion that preference should be given the returned soldier, all other things being equal.

Addresses of the candidates:

MAYOR JOHN W. FRY, Independent: I have always tried to give honest, fair and impartial administration, doing what I considered in the best interests of the citizens of Edmonton. It is significant that the groups opposing each other in the aldermanic and school

Allies and Russia Have Dealt Germans Staggering Blows in Land, Air, U-Boat Warfare

"We have inflicted shattering damage, and are inflicting it on German cities which are the centre of production."

He said that this, combined with other blows, "may well be the precursor of decisive events."

Britain, Churchill said, has "had the honor to bear the largest torch and pay the heaviest price." Nevertheless, in the Pacific "many brilliant actions have been recorded and the strength of Japan has been steadily and remorselessly worn down."

"The outstanding event of this year has been the victorious advance of the Russian army from the Volga west to the Dnieper, thus liberating—as Premier Stalin told us—two-thirds of the Russian soil from the foul invader.

"In this process the Russian armies have inflicted deep and dire injury upon the whole life structure of German military power. That monstrous juggernaut of German might and tyranny has been beaten and broken by Russian valor, generalship and science . . . an it has been beaten to an extent which may well prove mortal."

Churchill said he rated the Anglo-American air offensive as among one of the prime forces in the impending defeat of the Hitlerite regime.

CHEERED BY CONFERENCE

"We have all been cheered by the results of the Moscow conference," Churchill said, "and we look forward to welcoming back in the next week or so our foreign secretary (Anthony Eden) from his most successful mission.

"I have not abandoned hope that some time it may be possible for the heads of the three governments to meet together, because all my experience shows that friendly and trustful contacts are the best foundations for all plans, whether for war or peace."

He called the agreement among Britain, Russia, America and China an "all-important" one which "looks to the foundation of future peace."

"We hope that France will rise again to her true purpose and will play a worthy part in shaping the progress of Europe and the world," Churchill said.

TO SHARE LIBERATION

He said he rejoiced at the growing power of the French armies being recreated and rearmed in North Africa which "presently will take their share in the liberation of the soil of France."

The French Committee of National Liberation at Algiers comprises "not the owners of France, but the trustees," he said, and only the will of the people can establish a permanent structure of government.

"A great many speak as if the end of the war in Europe is near," Churchill said. "I hope they are right . . . we should, however, be foolish and blameworthy if we allowed our plans of action to be based upon prospects of an early collapse of Germany."

WARNS OF DANGERS

He said there was danger in anything that diverts the United Nations "from healing down into dust and ruins the forces that so nearly subjected the entire world to their domination."

Adolf Hitler still has 400 divisions available, and they are "incomparably stronger than anything available to the late Kaiser."

The 1944 campaign, Churchill predicted, will be most costly, and the Allies are proceeding on that assumption.

"Herr Hitler and his guilty confederates know that their lives are at stake," he said. "The German troops, wherever we meet them, have been found fighting with their veteran ability.

MAY BE ATTACKED

"The hazards of great battles lie before us . . . We cannot, moreover, preclude the possibility of new attacks on this island. We have been watching for signs of such an attack. Whatever happens, it will not affect the final course of the war."

Churchill said this is no time to relax any precautions, no time to divide the unity of the nation by raising party differences, no time to dream easy dreams of brave new worlds.

"We must not lose for a moment the sense and consciousness of urgency and crisis which must continue to drive us," he said.

In time of war we must make sure that confusion and chaos do not follow the victories of the armies or stultify the surrender, unexpectedly early, by the enemy.

"Not only the fortunes of this fearful war but the happiness of the future generations depend upon the fraternal association of Great Britain and the United States with in the larger world structure that will be erected to secure the peace and freedom of mankind," he concluded.

is hoped to get more slack coal by next week. In the meantime the dimout will continue and everything possible is being done to conserve the coal on hand.

If new coal supplies do not reach them this week the majority of Edmonton schools may be forced to close. This possibility increases as hope of immediate settlement of the miners' dispute appears to be waning.

The prevailing mild weather has so far prevented a critical situation, officials said. Coal reserves in the schools, railway yards, city power plant, and at industrial and public buildings are going down steadily.

Every effort is being made to transfer coal from other schools to those with only a day's supply, J. M. McAfee, superintendent of plant, stated Tuesday. He said other schools have enough coal to last this week with the holiday Thursday, Armistice Day, but "this week is the limit if the strike continues."

"It is up to the school board to decide, but probably the majority of schools will have to be closed," he said.

NO CHANGE

No change is reported in the situation at Edmonton as far as miners returning to work. They will vote on the question of returning to the mines at a meeting to be held at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday, Peter Collins, secretary, No. 3 sub-division, U.M.W.A. stated. While waiting the result of this vote, operators in the district are making the mines ready for immediate occupancy by the miners.

At Blairmore the strike settlement proposal of Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, minister of labor, was rejected by an overwhelming majority of 1,230 miners of the Crow's Nest Pass steam coal field at a mass meeting at Blairmore Monday afternoon.

The majority of mines in the Drumheller valley domestic coal field may remain closed tomorrow, it was indicated in reports from the valley late tonight. Although no vote was taken, majority of the miners were reported to have declared that they would follow the lead of their union brothers in the Crow's Nest Pass field and refuse to work, Tuesday.

Most of the mines in the Drumheller field operated with part crews, today, and several gave up the attempt to continue production and were closed by noon.

IGNORE ORDER

The 2,000 miner members of Sub District 5 of District 18, United Mine Workers of America, in the Crow's Nest Pass, ignored the back-to-work order of their district president, Robert Livett, and the strike continued in all but one of the big mines of the Crow's Nest Pass area.

They are the Mohawk and Bellevue Mines, Bellevue; Greenhill Mine, Blairmore and McGillivray and International Mines Coleman. Coke ovens at the International Coal and Coke Company plant, which normally supplies coke for the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company war industry at Trail, B.C., have been sealed due to shortage of coal.

The Blairmore meeting decided to circularize other sub-district locals of District 18, in British Columbia and Alberta urging rejection of the strike settlement offer. Reinstatement of J. L. Cohen, formerly a Labor member of the national war labor board, is requested in a resolution passed almost unanimously by the meeting and addressed to the federal government.

Miners of the Michel B.C. district voted against returning to work pending a decision from the Royal Commission on their application for increased wages.

AT MASS MEETING

Edward Boyd, district representative, U.M.W.A. from Calgary attended a mass meeting at the B.C. centre at which the majority of the miners were in favor of continuing the strike.

A special meeting of miners is being held at Fernie, B.C. Wednesday, where 140 men are members of the Michel local union. Even if the Fernie miners decide to return to work their votes will not be sufficient to reverse the Michel situation.

Only 150 of the estimated 2,000 miners who struck in the British Columbia fields had returned to work, the others decided to stay away from their jobs pending further meetings on Tuesday.

Count's Wife Gives Evidence In Oakes Case

Marigny at New York in the spring of 1942.

"I had hoped to discuss it with my mother, but I never did," she said.

Higgs led her through her honeymoon trip to Mexico, where she became gravely ill of typhoid fever.

"After my illness, I was advised to live normally," Nancy said.

"Was there any marital advice from the doctor?" asked Higgs.

"Only that I should live normally," Nancy replied.

Higgs brought out that the typhoid fever required some oral surgery, and explained that there is some work still to be done.

Answering Higgs, Nancy said: "I discovered I was pregnant in the hospital in Mexico."

Nancy told of a dinner party March 27 at her home, at which Sir Harry and her brother, now Sir Sidney, were guests.

"Father was very jovial," she said, "until suddenly he jumped up and said he and Sidney must go.

"Alfred went with him to the front as he went to the car. There was a terrific uproar. My father was very shocking. We were all amazed and astounded."

Other witnesses have said that Sir Harry called de Marigny a "sex maniac" at the time.

GOES TO U.S.

Nancy said she went to the United States this year for a medical checkup, and remained until July.

"I was advised not to stay in Nassau for the operation because of the hot summer," she said.

Nancy said she had a telephone call from Capt. James O. Barker of the Miami police, who had been called by the Duke of Windsor to help solve the slaying.

"He said he couldn't tell the details on the phone," Nancy said, but added that there was no doubt who the guilty person is."

Nancy began to sob softly, and Chief Justice Sir Bedford Daly called a brief recess.

COMPOSED ON RETURN

Nancy rested in the nearby magistrate's office. She was composed when she returned to the stand.

De Marigny was standing in the cage as court resumed, leaning forward and swaying from side to side.

"Capt. Barker told me it was my husband," Nancy said, picking up her account of the telephone conversation.

"Mrs. de Marigny," asked Higgs, "at any time during your married life has the accused ever attempted to obtain money from you?"

"No."

Then Higgs asked his final question.

"Has the accused ever made a statement of hatred toward your father?"

"No", said the witness.

ASKS ABOUT LETTER

Attorney-General Eric Hallinan then asked about a letter Nancy wrote to her mother just before she left for the United States, May 27.

"You use the word 'we' throughout," said Hallinan, "so I assume you pleaded with your mother on behalf of the accused and yourself?"

"I don't know," replied Nancy.

The chief justice permitted her to read the letter.

She sat in the witness box and read it.

Before Nancy started her testimony, Leonard Keeler, private criminologist, testified for the defence that in his opinion a fingerprint in evidence against De Marigny did not come from a bedcover in the death room, as the crown contends.

Deputy Is Back From Conference

Back from a meeting at Regina of the advisory committee of the Farm Rehabilitation Act, where he presented the Alberta brief and progress report, O. S. Longman, deputy minister of agriculture was back in Edmonton Tuesday.

Mr. Longman told the meeting that the Alberta government had set up an advisory committee on land utilization to deal with security of tenure for people in areas hit by drought.

The Alberta deputy minister also described Alberta's committees set up to deal with post-war problems and the co-ordinating committee of the provincial government set up to work with the Soldier Settlement board.

The seven sub-committees dealing with the resources of of the province in reconstruction, were also described.

Replace City Flier As Leader of Unit

LONDON, Nov. 9.—(CP)—Wing Cmdr. A. C. Mair, of Windsor, Ont., has assumed command of the Goose Squadron, R.C.A.F. bomber group, R.C.A.F. headquarters announced yesterday. He succeeds Wing Cmdr. Donovan Ferris of Edmonton, appointed to another command.

adjournment of a district executive meeting called to consider development in the coal strike situation.

Angus Morrison, secretary, indicated that a statement might be made at the conclusion of the meeting.

The meeting was called in view of the fact that miners in the Crow's Nest Pass, Edmonton district, Vancouver Island and other areas were still on strike despite orders of district executive president Robert Livett to return to work immediately.

Hopes High For Workable Labor Code in Canada

addition use would be made of such bodies as the Ontario labor court.

When a dispute arose it would go in the first instance to the regional board. This board could order a vote, order compulsory arbitration of the dispute or make other orders. If no settlement obtained the National Labor Board would intervene.

This procedure is regarded by some provincial delegates as too complicated. They suggest that the first thing which should happen would be the calling in of provincial conciliation officers who are on the spot. It is felt that this would short circuit a lot of delay which might ensue if the regional boards had to act in the first instance.

CONSIDERABLE CONCERN

There is considerable concern, too, in many of the provincial delegations over the status of their own labor departments should all the conciliation machinery of the National Labor Relations Board be placed under federal control.

Despite these objections the eight provinces seem willing to go along with the dominion in the formulation of a national labor policy. There is one caveat. It is a war measure and only a war measure and hence does not become a precedent for any peace time invasions of the provincial fields.

FOLLOW WAGNER ACT

The code itself will follow the American Wagner act in many provisions. While it does not specifically "outlaw company unions" which organized labor demands, it does forbid employers to influence their employees in the formation of unions or provide financial or other help to unions. It also forbids employers to intimidate employees in an effort to prevent unionization or to fire employees for union activity.

One clause not in the American Wagner act is the one which prohibits union organizers to intimidate or coerce workers into joining labor unions.

It is understood that none of the provincial governments has raised any objection to the compulsory collective bargaining clause or the compulsory arbitration of disputes clause.

Plan Extend Period For Wolf Bounty

An order-in-council extending the time during which bounties may be collected on coyotes is expected to be passed shortly by the provincial government.

There have been many complaints from farmers and ranchers reaching the government about extensive damage caused by coyotes. Many requests have been made for extension of the time for collecting bounties so that there will be a further incentive to the destruction of these predatory animals.

The bounty is $2 on each coyote killed or captured in the province with an additional $3 for each animal destroyed within the boundaries of an improvement district.

Sept. 30 was the date originally set for the collection of bounties, but this was extended once and it is now thought that a new deadline of Nov. 24 will be set.

Allies Reach Approaches of New Nazi Line

gliano River and adjacent high ground on the west and in the Apennines in central Italy.

Even the prisoners doubted the German ability to hold in view of the Allied advance, which carried Montgomery's forces into the towns of Paglieta and Torino, within a mile of the Sangro and overlooking a six-mile stretch along that stream.

Capture of Torino put the Eighth Army past the half-way mark in their push from Termoli to Pescara, whence major lateral highways lead toward the Italian capital.

Reports to headquarters indicated the Nazi high command was determined to hold the Allies somewhere south of Rome by all possible means, as much for propaganda purposes as for military considerations.

On the Fifth Army front, the British and Americans met stiffer resistance, including an attempted counter-attack west of the town of Galuccio, which was crushed by artillery and mortar fire before it could get underway.

Pope to Protest Raid on Vatican

LONDON, Nov. 9.—(CP) — Pope Pius XII will send a note to both the Germans and the Allies on the aerial violation of Holy See territory, the Vatican City correspondent of the German agency D.N.B. said last night in a broadcast.

United Nations 'Mean Business' On Relief Plan

coming predominant, when our enemies are being crushed back—all over the world."

He predicted the Atlantic City meeting would bring about "the first bold steps toward the practicable, workable realization of Freedom from Want."

WORK TOGETHER

"In defeat or in victory," he said, "the United Nations have never deviated from adherence to the basic principles of freedom, tolerance, independence and security. The forces of the United Nations march forward and the peoples of the United Nations march with them."

Mr. Roosevelt told the delegates the work ahead of the new organization is "immediate and urgent" because the Germans and the Japanese had plundered and destroyed with one purpose in mind:

"That in the lands they occupy there shall be left only a generation of half-men—under-nourished, crushed in body and spirit, without courage or intention of hope—ready, in fact, to be enslaved and used as beasts of burden by the self-styled master races."

Telling how the occupied countries have been robbed of their food, raw materials, production machinery and transports, the president said this situation raised a joint responsibility.

"Responsibility for alleviating the suffering and misery occasioned by this new order must be assumed not by an individual nation but by all the united and associated nations acting together," he said. "No one country could—or should—attempt to bear the burden of meeting the relief needs—either in money or in supplies."

Outlining need for U.N.R.R.A. operations to relieve food shortages in liberated areas on a basis of fair distribution of available supplies, he said it would be "supreme irony" to win the war and then inherit "world chaos simply because we were unprepared to meet what we know we shall have to meet."

ORGANIZATION'S PLANS

Under the draft agreement prepared in September by the state department, the organization will:

1. Plan and administer measures for the relief of war victims coming under the control of the United Nations by providing food, fuel, clothing, shelter, medical and essential services.

2. Formulate measures for the co-ordination of purchasing, shipping and procurement activities and the equitable distribution of relief supplies.

Many observers foresaw the possibility that the coming conference would prove a test of international co-operation as laid down in the Moscow pact since the "big four" of the United Nations will have substantial control of its operations.

Home Is Entered: Certificates Gone

Entering his home while he and his wife were away working, an intruder stole $34 worth of war saving certificates during the last five or six weeks, Wilfred N. Fir, 12721 123A street, told police Monday. The certificates were in a buffet drawer.

Police who investigated learned that the back door could be opened with a pass key and that also missing was a topcoat. About four weeks ago, said the complainant, about 18 pounds of sugar had been taken from the kitchen table.

Fair said he believed that at the time the certificates were taken, his garage was broken into and some tools were taken. Also missing was a watch.

Police are investigating.

Struck by Cars 2 Persons Hurt In City Streets

Two persons were injured Monday in accidents in city streets. One was taken to hospital with a broken knee after being struck by an auto operated by an unknown driver.

The second accident victim escaped with only slight injuries when struck by an autoist.

Mrs. A. Stewart of 10721 84 avenue, escaped serious injury after being struck and dragged 10 feet by an auto operated by J. B. McCurdy, 12963 113 street, at Jasper avenue and 102 street about 10:20 p.m. Her only injuries were a shaking up, shock, and a sore knee.

She told police that she was about 10 feet from the curb when the auto struck her. McCurdy stated that he had not seen Mrs. Stewart until just before the accident. He assisted her into his car and took her home.

Thomas Elliott, of 9826 108 street, interviewed at the General hospital, told police that he was crossing Jasper avenue at 107 street, some time between 9 a.m. and 11 a.m. Monday, when he was struck and knocked to the pavement. He did not know what had hit him. A man had come to him, saying he would help him into his car and take him to the hospital.

AT HOSPITAL

Arriving at the hospital, the unknown assistant took him to the hospital door, where the injured man was helped by hospital authorities. The autoist then departed, without entering the place.

Elliott was found to have received a broken knee. An old age pensioner, his daughter, Miss Margaret Elliott, resides at 9538 107 avenue. His condition Tuesday morning was described as being good.

Resolve of Allies Strengthened by Moscow Meeting

LONDON, Nov. 9—(CP)—The resolution of all of the United Nations in the struggle against Germany" has been strengthened by the Moscow conference, the Red Army's new victories and the progress of the Allied armies on all fronts, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told Soviet Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov in a message yesterday. Eden extended congratulations in connection with the 26th anniversary of the Bolshevist revolution.

Daily War Map—Exclusively in The Edmonton Bulletin

The Allied armies in Italy are stepping along. They have advanced to a maximum of eight miles on the 80-mile front. Their capture of Isernia, in which the Canadian first division participated, was particularly important. Five miles to the east they took Carpinone. The Allied advance deprives the enemy of the use of a lateral road that tied his battlefront together. On the west end of the line the Allies reached the mouth of the Garigliano river. The enemy flooded some lowlands to delay their pursuers. On the east end of the line the Allies captured San Salvo, which is located, with the latest gains, on the accompanying map of Italy.

C.C.F. Pledges Said Impossible Of Fulfillment

BRANDON, Man., Nov. 9.—(CP)—Quoting federal government statistics and comparing them with taxation in New Zealand, Premier Stuart S. Garson of Manitoba last night attacked the financial policy of the C.C.F. party and termed the party's plans "impossible of fulfillment."

Speaking here in support of Mayor F. H. Young, coalition candidate in the provincial by-election Nov. 18 in Brandon constituency, Mr. Garson said that the C.C.F.'s plan as stated by Rev. Stanley H. Knowles, C.C.F. member of parliament for Winnipeg North, proposed to benefit the farmer by increasing the price of foodstuffs without raising the price to the city worker. To increase factory wages without increasing the cost of machinery to the farmer, and to provide increased pensions and social services without increasing taxation.

Following Mr. Garson to the speaker's platform, Hon. J. O. McLenaghen, Manitoba attorney general and health minister, condemned the C.C.F. as a party leading to economic chaos. The C.C.F., he said, was the greatest menace to Canada since Confederation.

Mobile Soviet Column Slices Into Nazi Flank

west of Kiev along the Vinnitsa railroad which splits the Ukraine from Northeast to southwest.

PROTECTS RIGHT FLANK

Another force was protecting the right flank of that column by pushing westward along the Zhitomir highway. It already had covered between one-third and one-half of the distance to Zhitomir, 80 miles west of Kiev.

The Kiev-Vinnitsa railroad constitutes the spinal column of the German armies struggling to extricate themselves from the predicament posed by the Russian onsurge through the Dnieper line.

Once that line is destroyed, military observers believe, the tottering German front in the south Ukraine will collapse. The Nazi position was counted hopeless because of what was regarded as irreparable strategic errors committed by the German general staff, evidently at the insistance of Adolf Hitler.

Once again, the Germans were abandoning arms and even planes in their haste to escape Gen. Nikolai F. Vatutin's flying columns.

Fight to End

Hitler Threatens Reich With Mass Executions To Avert Home Collapse

By JAMES F. KING

LONDON, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler vowed yesterday the Nazis would fight fanatically to the end and, admitting some persons in Germany want an Allied victory, warned he would resort to mass executions to prevent a home-front collapse.

Flanked by Nazi party bigwigs in a Munich beer cellar, Hitler, in a belligerent, somewhat boastful speech broadcast by the Berlin radio, demanded loyalty above all.

He aimed sharp threats in many directions, but marked the sharpest for his own home front.

"I know that I demand the apparently impossible from the battle-front," he asserted, "but this almost impossible must force a decision in our favor."

MARK ANNIVERSARY

In the speech, which marked the anniversary of Hitler's abortive beer hall putsch of 1923, the dictator apparently took a stab at whipping up new national courage when he declared:

"Everything is possible, but that I should lose my nerve is impossible."

Hitler challenged the Allies to open a "second front" in Europe, and declared that "if they try . . . it will be seen whether the reserves we have been keeping in many fields are a sign of weakness or prudence."

Hitler acknowledged reverses in Russia and, referring to Allied bombings of Germany, said "the sufferings of the German people through this bombing are enormous."

He reiterated, however, that "however long this war lasts, we shall never capitulate."

"I can support and lead the German people," he said. "I can say that whatever may happen at the end, victory is certain.

"If Germany breaks under the strain, I would not be sorry for it. It would not deserve any better fate. But this will never happen . . ."

DEFENSIVE NOTE

The entire speech carried an obviously defensive note—an apparent effort to answer reports of unrest in the Reich, reports which have been coming from neutral capitals with growing frequency.

Hitler averred that only the Nazi party is holding the German nation together and demanded that party members "Must bring to realization this unworthy and, if necessary, destroy him."

In a reference to the recent Moscow tripower conference of Britain, the United States and Russia, Hitler said:

"They set up committees to study the shape of the world after the war. They would do better to think out how to shape their own world at present."

PROMISES VENGEANCE

Promising vengeance against Britain, Hitler declared that whether our enemies believe it or not, our day of vengeance will come, and since we cannot reach America, there is a date very near us which will pay dearly."

On the subject of home executions, Hitler said "there are indeed a few individuals also in Germany who may believe in the enemy's victory, but when thousands are falling at the front, no one would hesitate to hand a few hundred such criminals over to death."

Soviet Russia To Pay States For War Aid

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Soviet Russia intends to repay her obligations to the United States in full, Donald M. Nelson, War Production Board chairman, said last night.

Quoting Marsnal Joseph Stalin directly, Nelson said the Russian leader had told him without qualification that "any obligation undertaken by this government (Russia) will be repaid in full, and not by token payments."

Nelson, who returned last week from a three-week survey of Russian war industry, was emphatic in his prediction of long and lasting friendship between Russia and the United States in an address before the Congress of American-Soviet Friendship at Madison Square Garden.

TOTAL $2,500,000,000

(Most of what the United States has done for Russia has been in the form of land-lease shipments, which now total more than $2,500,000,000.)

"I have gained a measure of the warm human feeling which underlies the wonderful achievement of Mr. Hull (Cordell Hull, United States secretary of state) and his associates" in the signing of the Moscow unity pact, Nelson continued.

"To my way of thinking, the pact which Mr. Hull signed is far more than an important agreement between great powers. It is an expression of the rooted desire of the people of America and Russia and England and China to come closer together, to seek better ways of understanding each othec and a better means of expressing their common interests.

"That is why this great pact carried so much force, and has stirred the world so deeply. I join with you in acclaiming the Moscow pact, which represents a great forward stride in world history."

Nelson hinted that the top executives of the Allied production command believe the Germans know that they are whipped right now.

"I am amazed at the stupidity of the German leaders who continue to fight against the hopeless odds that are steadily mounting against them," he said "I do not think that the Nazis high command can have any real hope left."

fifteen planes were seized intact on one airfield near Fastov, in addition to a full fuel dump.

KOSHANKA TAKEN

Thundering across territory held by the Germans since the early days of the war, Soviet tanks and motorized infantry captured Koshanka, 43 miles southwest of Kiev and only 140 miles northeast of Rumania and 110 miles southeast of Poland, and more than 60 other towns and villages.

From Kishanka, the Russians struck southwest toward Berdichev, terminus of the last north-south Ukrainian railroad in German hands. Capture of Berdichev would leave the Germans only the Odessa-Lvow railroad over which to move reinforcements and supplies to the Nazi armies in the Dnieper bend, or to evacuate them.

RIVER CROSSED

Another Soviet column, advancing almost due west from Kiev, forced the Zdvizh River and captured Markovcy 31 miles west of Kiev and 50 miles east of the junction city of Zhitomir.

The third Soviet force drove in to Gornostayepol, 45 miles northwest of Kiev and only 70 miles southeast of Korosten, another junction on the railway running north from Berdichev.

A special Soviet announcement disclosed that 15,000 Germans were killed in the four days of fighting that ended with the capture of Kiev Saturday. Some 6,220 Germans were captured.

At the eastern tip of the Crimea, the Russians improved their positions on the Kerch peninsula after beating back four German counter-attacks by an infantry regiment and 15 tanks. At least 800 Germans were killed and six tanks were wrecked.

Nazis Arrested In U.S. Uniforms

PITTSBURGH, Calif. Nov. 9.—(AP)—Chief of Police Sal Jimno said yesterday two German prisoners of war—who spoke excellent English and wore United States army uniforms with sergeants' stripes—were arrested yesterday on a downtown street. Jimno identified the two as Karl Linke, 29, and Max Barthel, 24, who escaped from custoday on a train near Tracy Sunday night.

Tomorrow's Duty

Mayor Fry has the unique distinction of having been nominated for the seventh consecutive term as chief magistrate of Edmonton. It is an honor of which he may well be proud. His tenure began during the (unnecessary) financial depression, which fortunately has now given way to conditions in which civic revenues are the greatest on record; the handicap now being scarcity of labor and materials with which to carry out and maintain street and other improvements. To this favorable turn of events is no doubt due in large measure the popular indifference to civic affairs that has been conspicuous during the municipal election campaign.

If attendance at the campaign meetings is any guide, a good many voters will be surprised when reminded that tomorrow is voting day. It is to be hoped the vote will not be in keeping with the size of the audiences. If so, the election will be something of a farce. The returns from the polls are supposed to reflect public opinion as to the administrative record for the year, the suitability of candidates, and the alternative policies offered. Obviously when only a minority of the qualified electors poll votes, the returns are not conclusive on any of these points.

It is the undoubted privilege of a voter to refrain from voting if he chooses to do so; and to then spend the year complaining about the holes in his street, the delapidated condition of his sidewalk, the management of the city utilities, or any other feature of municipal business. But that is not at all a reasonable thing to do.

Every qualified person should make it his or her business to get to the polls tomorrow and vote for the candidates who represent his or her views. That is a duty which the voter owes to himself, to the city, and to those who seek to represent him on the city council and the school boards. Only sickness or some other circumstance beyond control can justify any elector in failing to discharge this responsibility of citizenship.

V.

Why Not?

During the last three weeks Canadians of all ranks and callings have bought $1,-300,000,000 or more of Government bonds. Six months ago they bought Fourth loan bonds to a comparable, though smaller, amount. In a year they have thus put aside for future use a sum not less than $2,500,000,000.

The bulk of this money came out of current earnings and pledges against future earnings; for accumulated savings had been absorbed in the main by previous bond purchases. And a huge proportion of this great sum came out of the earnings of wage workers, salary workers, farmers, business men, and professional men; wealthy persons, corporations and public bodies making up the balance.

Exactly how much was subscribed by people who have only small incomes and moderate incomes will not be known even approximately for some time, and will never be known precisely. But exact figures are not required to establish the fact that these classes of our citizens have saved, and pledged themselves to save, more money in these twelve months than they ever put into permanent savings in a previous year.

The moral is self-revealing. How much more secure family life would be, and community life, and the national life, if we as a people did in peace time what we are now doing under pressure of war conditions. We would not of course be compelled for people individually or collectively to save money in ordinary times in the amounts which are at present possible. But there is such a thing as thrift in times of peace as in times of war. If we can carry over into peace years the urge to save that the war years are teaching, Canada will be a happier and more contented country than it has been.

V.

"On the Edge"

Marshal Stalin's declaration that Germany stands on the edge of "catastrophe" is in marked contrast to the reserve with which he has hitherto referred to enemy reverses and the war outlook. It is for that reason more encouraging to the Allied peoples, and must be more disheartening to the enemy. Stalin is not given to either exaggeration or prophecy, and friend and foe will know that this confident tone would not be adopted if the facts did not warrant.

The enemy high command will immediately infer that hope must be abandoned that the Russian offensive is nearing exhaustion, for lack of men, lack of supplies, or lack of organization to keep feeding fresh men and ample supplies of all kinds into the pursuit of the fleeing Nazi forces across the Ukraine. Since their power of resistance has been shattered all the way from Kiev to the Black Sea, there is nothing for the beaten Hitler divisions but to keep on moving west, in hope of reaching the Bug before that line is flanked by Russian columns driving across the lower Dnieper. This of course Stalin had in mind, and the substance of his statement is that his men both can and will continue their offensive indefinitely.

He had also in mind, it can be assumed with certainty, information given out and plans drawn at the recent conference in Moscow. The extent to which air attack on Reich centres has crippled and will continue to cripple enemy transport was fully and frankly discussed there. The objectives of the push up the Italian peninsula, and the prospect of reaching those objectives, is another subject on which Moscow is now fully informed. So also are the plans and the time-table for attacks on the Hitler citadel at other points.

These are known facts on which Stalin based his judgment that the Nazi power is on the verge of disaster. It won't help enemy morale to remember that the Marshal is a realist, who bases his calculations on what he knows, not on "intentions."

V.

If King Victor Emmanuel has not already abdicated, the probability is that he will have to. That point the Italians will decide for themselves, since the Allies are not interfering in Italy's domestic affairs more than necessary. If the Nazis were still in charge, of course matters would be different. Whether Victor should go or stay would in that event depend on the say-so of Hitler. What the Italians thought about it would not count.

V.

There will be general satisfaction at the announcement that Canada has offered India 100,000 tons of wheat to alleviate famine conditions there. The offer has been gratefully accepted and the wheat will go forward as shipping can be made available. Canadians will be glad to know that help was thus extended promptly when the need became apparent, without waiting for funds to be raised by popular subscription. The sooner the wheat can be got moving to the hunger-stricken people, the more gratified the taxpayer donors will be.

Credit and Currency Creation Is Private Monopoly

U.S. Congressman Reveals Iniquities of System in Book

By HAROLD L. WEIR

One subject is engrossing public attention on which continues almost to the excision of everything else, excepting, of course, the war. That subject is social security. The war has created a new social consciousness in every stratum of society.

Harold L. Weir

And of all the phases of social security, that which can see greatest attention is the relation of social justice to the monetary system. For of one thing we are utterly convinced, that to attempt to establish a system of social security without reforming a monetary system that condemns the nation and the individual to perpetual debt is like trying to lift oneself by one's bootstraps. It cannot be done.

For this reason, I think it is useful to discuss, with copious quotations, the new book "Out of Debt," by Jerry Voorhis, a United States congressman who has given a good deal of time and attention to monetary matters in the United States whose system closely parallels that of Canada.

I shall give the gist here of the author's thesis and continue the argument in this space tomorrow. Mr. Voorhis says:

"The Constitution says Congress shall have power to 'coin money and regulate the value thereof.' But Congress does not do either of these things at present. Where, then, does our money come from?

"In the earliest days money consisted of things which had intrinsic value. Very little division of labor existed in those days, which means that most people produced the very things which they themselves used. People could get along without money if they had to. People who sought economic power tried to own as many sheep or as much land as they could. They lived from the real wealth they produced, not from the things they bought with money.

"Today people who seek economic power pay no attention at all to sheep or land. What they are interested in is the number of figures in the bank book after their names. This is true because the nature of money has almost completely changed and its relation to real wealth has become all-important one. We live in a world dominated by machinery where not a single person in society produces more than a small fraction of the goods that he and his family need to consume. No one can get along without the use of some money. And most people produce not one single thing for their own use, but work simply for money to use and then buy with that money anything they really need to sustain life.

"This is what is meant when we call money our 'medium of exchange.' Without it none of our economic life could be carried on. It is the cord that ties together all the manifold specialized kinds of production. It is the bridge over which all producers' goods must pass to reach consumers. Its central importance to our economic system is so great that we take it for granted and then proceed to surround the whole money question with an aura of mystery and taboo.

"Article I, section 8, of the United States Constitution places on Congress the responsibility to 'coin money, regulate the value thereof and of foreign coin. . . .'

"What do these words mean? First, what is 'money'?

"Money is anything that people generally use to discharge debt contracts or price contracts—that is, to pay debts or buy goods.

"When they spoke of coining money, was it the intention of the framers of the Constitution that the Congress of the United States should have control only over the pennies, nickels, dimes, and quarters? Of course not, and the Supreme Court, in the legal-tender cases, after the Civil War, decided that the issuing of bank notes was the equivalent of 'coining money.'

"But neither coins nor bank notes are our chief money today, for more than nine-tenths of our trade is carried on by means of the kind of deposit currency or demand bank deposits subject to check. These deposits against which we can draw checks are actually promises by the banks to furnish money on demand. These promises of banks circulate as if they were themselves money, and perform all the functions of money. Since check-book money does all the work of money, we must call it money for the same reason that the Supreme Court declared bank notes to be the equivalent of coin.

"'To coin money' means, therefore, if it means anything, not only the minting of metal coins, but the issuing of bank notes, and the creation of check-book money or any other substitute which performs the function of money.

"What has happened, then, to this Constitutional power of Congress? Well, at present the following agencies coin the money of this nation: (1) the United States Treasury when it issues silver certificates in exchange for silver bought from domestic producers or from foreign producers; (2) the United States Mint when it coins the small change, the pennies, nickels, dimes, quarters, halfdollars, and dollars out of metal; (3) the Federal Reserve System when it issues Federal Reserve notes and creates and extends Federal Reserve Bank credit to the member banks of the Federal Reserve System; and (4) our 15,000 commercial banks when ever they create check-book money in the process of making loans.

"So it is not the Congress which coins the money of this nation but four different agencies, of which the two important ones are the twelve privately owned Federal Reserve Banks and the 15,000 privately owned commercial banks.

"As a matter of fact, our money today consists almost entirely of bank credit or check-book money. Ninety-five per cent of the the business of America is transacted with this kind of money. It costs nothing to create it and yet we give to one group of businessmen (the banks) a monopoly of the right to do so. Though the whole economic system of America depends upon its ebb and flow, it is created only at the will of the banks and only when someone or other is willing to go into debt to them. If a bank believes it would be good business to make a loan of a certain amount of money to an individual, a corporation, or the government, it does not need to have the money with which to make the loan. It can make a bookkeeping entry to the credit of the borrower and then lend the amount of newly created money in the form of a demand deposit.

"According to our present banking laws, banks can lend money which didn't exist until the bank loaned it. A bank can write down in a little pass book the figures $1000 after your name and then give you a check-book and tell you they have loaned you a $1000. They have created and loaned you a $1000 checking account or $1000 of check-book money or the banks promise to pay you $1000 if you ask for it. Before they loaned it to you it didn't exist but you will have handed over to the bank a mortgage or note which they believe is worth $1000 and so they create and exchange with you $1000 of this check-book money for a lien against a certain amount of your property —which you put up as security and which they can keep if you fail to pay the debt. Under such circumstances the bank has created $1000 worth of credit (money) that did not exist before. And that credit is spent exactly like cash money. You draw checks against it and pay bills with them. If you need to, you occasionally 'cash' a check.

"Banks are able to do these things primarily because our laws require banks to keep only about $1 of cash money in reserve for every $5 of demand deposits. Our laws do not require banks to have as many dollars in their vaults as their deposites have on deposit. If the total amount of demand deposits of a bank is $1,000,000, then the bank must have in reserve to pay the depositors—not $1,000,000 but $200,000. Of course, the reason they can do this is because most of our business is done by checks and not nearly all the depositors ask for their money at the same time.

"There is nothing to prevent such newly created check-book money from being loaned to speculators to run up scarce commodities. And there is nothing to prevent this magician power being used by banks to make capital 'investments' that, to us, obtain title to profitable real wealth without giving up anything or comparable value in exchange. Inflation comes about when a lot of banks begin doing this sort of thing all at once.

"On the other hand, banks can destroy money as well as create it. If a man has, over a period of time, been in the habit of carrying on his trade or his business by borrowing at a bank on his note, and if the bank refuses to renew his note, it has thereby literally destroyed an amount of the medium of exchange of the American people equal to the face of the note. Such action if repeated in enough cases will cause prices to decline, set in motion a deflationary trend, cause unemployment, bankruptcy and distress. But if such a decrease thereby the purchasing power of interest, which is the one thing, naturally, that those who now create and destroy our money are most interested in. For interest is bankers' income and bankers' profit.

"Between 1929 and 1933 there was literally destroyed in this country some $8,000,000,000 of the money of the American people, most of which was and is bank credit. This was accomplished in many different ways, but perhaps the best one to understand is our illustration of the refusal on the part of the bank to renew the note of one of its borrowers.

"Let us suppose that a man whose credit has been regarded as perfectly good was in the habit of doing business with a certain bank. Let us suppose that he borrowed $10,000, renewing his note from year to year, and then was suddenly told that he must pay the note in full. Obviously he would have to secure the money by collecting debts owed to him by other people. Unless he can further, that he was able to do so. If he did, it meant not only a reduction of $10,000 in the amount of total bank deposits but also a corresponding reduction in the amount of money in circulation. And while this was happening to this man the same thing was happening to thousandso of others.

"The 'value' of our money is determined by what it will buy, never by what it is made of. The best proof of this on a national scale came in 1934 when the President proclaimed that henceforth there would be only 60% as much gold in a standard American dollar as before. None of the world said a great rise in prices would take place. But it didn't. Prices changed hardly at all. Apparently the people simply received little difference it really meant to them how many 'grains of gold' an imaginary dollar held in it. Again, does a silver dollar have more value than a $5 paper bill? Just try to get someone to trade his $5 bill for your silver dollar! Or suppose someone offered you a $50 check for a $10 gold piece. Would you take it? Of course you would. Yet the paper on which the check is written is worthless. So is the paper in the $5 bill. And so is gold and silver in themselves are worth something.

"So it is clear that the value of money has to do only with what it will buy—of food and clothing and shelter and other things. Money is worth just exactly its value in terms of goods and services, or its buying power.

"When the government creates money but never loans it, and when private banks loan money but never create it, we shall have approached as near as we can to an ideal monetary system as it is possible for us to do.

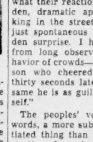
On the Reliability of the Eye Witness

Impossible to Determine Italian People's Opinion Of King

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

It is difficult to get any picture of what is occurring even in that part of Italy where our correspondents move freely. It is, for instance, impossible to estimate pro— or anti-Nazi feelings in Germany. But it is also apparently impossible to estimate the prestige of the King of Italy in Naples. I was there made an open appearance before masses of people and, as a test of his popularity,



Dorothy Thompson

When the King arrived a few days ago in Naples, conspicuously riding in an open car, attended by a considerable entourage, and drove through the streets and quarters of the city, there were independent observeds. American correspondents, on hand to record the reception of him by the crowds. Among them were Homer Bigart, of the New York Herald Tribune, and Herbert L. Matthews of the New York Times. On Friday morning, the Herald Tribune headlines announced "Italy's King Receives Ovation," and the Times announced, "King Finds Public Cool." The headlines were not more contradictory than the accounts.

Mr. Bigart's was the more detailed. He described how the King looked, who accompanied him, the route he took, and the favorable behavior of the crowds along the way. I do not know whether Mr. Bigart followed the King in an automobile, or whether he received the report second hand. If the whole report is that of one eye witness, the correspondent himself must have been with the King before his entrance into Naples, for he describes an enthusiastic reception in the village of Avellino.

It is important whether he was with the King, on this tour, for if he was the exactitude of the details is such that he must have received them from someone who was in the King's entourage—ergo, from a supporter of the King.

Mr. Matthews happened to be in Count Sforza's apartment when the King arrived in the city. Mr. Matthews does not give any definite first-hand, eye-witness account at all. He confines himself to all of post facto reporting—he describes impressions related to him by people who did see the king, and his reception. He took evidence. The evidence was exactly the opposite of Mr. Bigart's report. The best Mr. Matthews could report of the King's reception was that some people may have cheered, though most were indifferent, and the worst was that the man decided he ought to share death with Mussolini.

Neither correspondent was disinterested. Mr. Bigart expressed his opinion that "it would have been a dangerous moment for the king if the anti-monarchist assessment of the public temper had been correct." He also expressed the opinion that "Naples is the most republican city of Italy."

Mr. Matthews expressed the opinion that Naples is the most monarchist city of Italy and devoted most of his article to recording, with obvious sympathy, the opinions of the king's outstanding opponents.

So, actually, we know just about as much as we did before reading either of these first-hand accounts—namely nothing watever about the state of public opinion in Naples.

What those of us who know Naples well, may, however, add to these reports is that the Neapolitans are a volatile people. They like shows, they like actors, and being Italians are also skeptical. Perhaps it is not very important from a serious political standpoint what their reaction was to the sudden, dramatic appearance of the king in the streets. Maybe it was just sportsmanship, and sudden surprise. I hold it possible—from long observation of the behavior of crowds—that the very person who cheered may have said thirty seconds later, "And just the same he is as guilty as Musso himself."

The peoples' voice is, in other words, a more subtile and differentiated thing than the mass demonstration of people in the streets. I seen the same crowds, within the space of a few minutes cheer two diametrically opposed candidates and causes.

The king is not hated in Italy. He has been too negative a figure for twenty-two years. When there was no figure to stand against Mussolini, many anti-fascists were passionately royalist in opposition to the dictator.

And the king has been denounced and deposed by Mussolini, too. Acclaim of the king might be interpreted as anti-fascist, and boos against him as pro-fascist. Popular reactions are bound to be meaningless under such circumstances.

But the future of this particular king seems sealed by the Moscow agreement, which goes into details concerning Italy. The three powers have demanded that representatives of anti-fascist parties be included in the government. But the condition for anti-fascist participation in the government is the abdication of Victor Emmanuel though not of the dynasty—for obvious reasons; they want to start with a clean slate.

The real issue is whether it is possible to install new forces around which popular acclaim can rally, in a twilight situation, such as the present one, the people cannot decide where to put their loyalties.

Sees No Dislocation in Change

Election of Republican Would Not Create Any Confusion

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—I am trying to imagine our situation in the early months, at least, of 1945 if President Roosevelt should not be re-elected for a fourth term and an opponent, not a successor belonging to his own party, should move into the White House. To hear them tell it, the new deal people believe this would be a terribly disruptive development, as it certainly would be in the personal lives and fortunes of most of them. Some of them also sincerely think the period of change would be a season of serious faltering and would cost casualties on all the fronts and stretch the war by some immeasurable time.

These arguments, however, would have been presented in all their fearsomeness in the campaign and, assuming that an opponent and not a political apostle of the president is elected, we have to accept the change as the studied and deliberate decision of the majority of the accessible voters.

I think we may brush off the possibility that the successor would be either General Marshall or General MacArthur. General Marshall is an unavailable ideal and MacArthur would have to pull out of the war at the front to come home and campaign and that would kill him off politically.

The two outstanding possibilities are Wendell Willkie and Tom Dewey, and if anyone defeats President Roosevelt or his choice for the Democratic nomination, one of these probably will be the man.

In any case, the new president would be bound to go on with the war because the country is so deeply committed that he couldn't be elected on any platform of negotiated peace or compromise. Willkie would be pretty sure to adopt the president's foreign and peace policy in general terms. Dewey being very demure at this stage of the game, has not had to say what sort of peace he would stand for. Co-operation in the world would be obligatory because by then his country will be so deeply involved that isolated nationalism will be out of the question. However, I think Dewey would be soft pedal, and allow the world gradually to forget, the Atlantic charter and the four freedoms because they are personal political slogans of Mr. Roosevelt.

At home, though, in Washington, there would be great commotion. The man would move in with his own Jim Farley and throw the rascals out and there would then ensue such an exodus as the country has not seen since the Argonists and selfless anonymities and nonentities, actuaries and lawyers, professors and bleeding hearts, house pets, press agents and information specialists would go down the road in crowds and there would be a clean sweep at the treasury, and in the department of justice, and hundreds of bureaus that most of us never even heard of where communism is and that have been quietly tucked away for all these years. I can see white smoke coming from the chimneys along toward the first of the year as the labor relations board burns its old confidential files and trucks bound for the public works with the records of Arthurdale and other expensive personal foibles of the benign but mighty and determined.

Soon, of course, others would move in behind them and, in Willkie's case, they would be just new faces and personalities, not much different in their economic and social theories from those whom they displaced; for Mr. Willkie does not differ greatly from Mr. Roosevelt in such matters. Dewey's people would be more on the efficient and practical side, and I can see him now at the end of the files to make them safe for study for material to be used in future campaigns whenever old New Dealers might raise their heads in the elections.

Whether it were Willkie or Dewey the change would be great and stimulating, for thousands of barnacles and bitter misanthropes grown arrogant over the years as their feeling of power grew, would be thrown out abruptly, if not bodily. This certainly would cause some dislocation and interrupt continuity in many offices, but that it would impede the war effort I cannot agree. On the contrary, it would stimulate work and improvement and, assuming that the people had elected an opponent of the New Deal, I believe they would have this purpose and picture in mind and would rejoice and pitch in harder than ever to win back the United States.

AUSTRALIAN PRESS UNION

At the first wartime race meeting in the Northern Territory, "miseries" of the meeting stated that bullets of not more than 60 volts could be used, but firearms were prohibited because of the danger of injury to the committee!

Shillelaghs could be used on opposing jockeys and patrons were told that the ambulance would be in attendance for all those disagreeing with the committee.

To the thousands of officers and men of the North-West who attended it was the biggest event of the year; to the Prisoners-of-War Fund it was real benefit for a percentage of the takings from the 20,000 tote tickets amounted to between £400 and £450.

The typical country race track had been cut out of virgin bush by the N.C.O.'s and men of a cavalry regiment, which staged the races.

Horses for the meeting were supplied by H. Byrne, of Tipperary Station. The stakes, which exceeded £500 were raised by auctioning to men the temporary ownership of horses for the day.

The highlight of the day was the special event, to be contested by "six famous jockeys procured at great trouble and inconvenience. They proved to be a group of diminutive aboriginal boys, but they had been born to the saddle —and could they ride!

The man walked angrily into the boot repairer's shop. "Look here," he said, "you advertise 'Boots repaired while you wait'—and you have had mine a week and not finished 'em yet!" "Well," replied the boot-mender, "you're waitin', aren't you?"

Civic Election Campaign Concludes As Candidates Speak at Two Meetings

board fields have not seen fit to put a candidate against me. This would indicate that they are perfectly satisfied with the leadership that I have given city council.

During my terms of office as mayor the finances of the city have been rehabilitated and the bonded indebtedness reduced from $20,000,000 to $24,000,000 with a consequent saving in interest charges to the citizens of $500,000 annually.

In addition to the bonded debt feduction the overdraft which amounted to $2,000,000 in 1937 has been entirely paid off and at the end of this year there will be between $600,000 and $700,000 credit balance in the bank.

There has been a general improvement and tension of our utilities, and large reserves have been set aside for the further development of these utilities in the post-war period, or when men and materials are available. We are now completing a $800,000 extension to the city power plant, all of which has been paid out of current revenue.

STREET IMPROVEMENTS

The condition of our streets is not as good as we would like to have them, but materials and lack of manpower has made it impossible to carry out grading and improvements contemplated. The money involved for this purpose has been set aside and will be utilized as soon as the labor and material situation permits.

We have heard considerable about a lower mill rate, and it is possible that a lower rate than the 49½ mills could have been struck this year, but we believed that it was good policy to make hay while the sun shined and get money for needed improvements while all our citizens are enjoying good wages. The reserve funds being created now will be a cushion to take up the slack in the transition from war to peace time economy.

I wish to pay tribute to the cooperation given me by members of the aldermanic board, and also by the members of the civic service, and also to Paddy Griffin for the sterling work accomplished on behalf of returned soldiers.

T. J. A. R. N. S., Independent-Mayoralty: You will soon be deciding who will be your chief magistrate for another year.

At no time in this campaign have I advocated a mill rate of 30. That is impossible. But I do say it could be 38 or 40. But you can't do it with million-dollar projects. You must cancel the projects to have the low mill rate.

This is my home district, (he was speaking to the Norwood school meeting at the time), and I think it is the duty of the citizens and people not to attend election meetings. But that is not to say they will not vote on election day.

NEED FOR CHANGE

There is need for a change. In the last seven years the city council has not put over one worth-while project.

The tax rate is still around 50 mills.

Much is said about housing. There was a $250,000 project by a local man for housing turned down by the city. It was over the price of a lot. Now $50 is nothing in the price of a lot.

If I am elected there will be no million dollar projects for water purification plants.

Even if we wanted to, the plant couldn't be constructed at this time. It takes manpower and cement. Neither are available.

If the $250,000 project had not been turned down by the city you would have had accommodation ready today.

They talk about having a million in reserve. That million dollars does not belong to the city, it belongs to the taxpayers and it should have been put to work.

It should have been put to work last February at the time the city went begging to Ottawa for relief on housing. The city council has nothing much to talk about in the present housing project. The project should have been constructed where we want it and not over there where it is.

We have a problem of transportation at the present time. The present housing plan will make the transportation problem worse. The council never seemed to think of building close to where the war workers are employed.

These homes will be for a select few and not for the people who need them.

I am against the present zoning bylaw. It is the bottleneck in the housing program.

The zoning bylaw should be modified and members of the board elected.

COSTLY BUILDING

We have built a costly administration building at the Edmonton airfield. If we had waited a short time it would have been constructed by an airline company. They say we will get the investment back in 10 years. We won't get it back in 40 years and the building will probably be condemned as a flying hazard in a few years.

War accommodation could have been provided had we really desired it. We should be able to care for those who came from the east, west and south to help us. If they had come from the north as invaders we would have provided accommodation in a hurry.

The tram service needs improvement. There should be a belt line system on the north side. They can never regulate the system with inspectors at Jasper avenue and 101 street.

I advocate closer supervision of the city police force department.

There should be no $50 penalties for constables for minor breaches of rules.

I have modern office experience, handling hundreds of thousands of dollars in cheques each year. I feel I would be able to handle the procedure of an office of the city.

J. GUILD, Civic-Progressive, Aldermanic: We, after the war, will have plenty of power—that is, if we get about 130,000,000 k.w.h. the Calgary Power Co. barred from us. City utilities should be extended to outlying districts.

We need progressive civic government to put our utilities to work. We have thousands of people asking for them. A lot of money could be made for this city through our utilities. More than that, our, boys, when they return from overseas, should not have to go on the breadline.

WORK FOR PEOPLE

Unless our aldermen change their policies and work for the people, instead of having the people work for them, there will not be any real democracy in Edmonton.

The city should make a bigger effort to pay its public debt. Now is the time, when we have the money. Will we ever be able to pay after the war? It should be able to now and get rid of the high interest rates. The public debt is a millstone around our necks.

R. W. HAMILTON, Citizens' Committee, Aldermanic: This is the last night of this civic election campaign where voters will be no more meetings or broadcasts; this is our final appearance before the electorate prior to polling day.

Throughout the campaign the electorate has listened to a great many promises. Some of these promises were general, others specific—others are of the vague variety inferring the coming of a bright new world, provided we elect the three C.C.F. candidates to the city council. You will have noticed in contrast that we Citizens' Committee candidates have definitely been more reserved and restrained in the matter of promises. This is not as a result of any pre-arranged plan among us.

It is because no reasonable person will bind himself by silly election promises—promises that are silly because they concern matters that lie outside the sphere of civic government, or promises that are silly because they destroy the free exercise of judgment and good sense.

The only promise that really means anything has been made. I believe, at this time or another, that practically all the members of the Citizens' ticket—and that is, to keep the interests of the city paramount before them, and to keep their judgment free from the prejudice of party affiliations.

Before you go to the polls on Wednesday consider carefully whether you are electing aldermen to run the city, or whether you are electing them to try to run the whole country.

IMPORTANT TASK

We will have our opportunity at the proper time to vote in federal and provincial elections, and the men we return in federal and provincial elections will have the House of Commons and the provincial legislature in which to work out matters of federal and provincial concern. In the meantime let us recognize that the work of the city council is important—so important that we must not permit its use as a tool of party politics—so important that its members, as such, must keep themselves free of party ties if their work is to be well done.

Polling day is Wednesday—urge your friends to vote and to vote the Citizens' slate' for school board, Bowman, Orchard, Hamilton and Sutherland; and for council, Douglas, Downey, Gariepy, Porter and myself, Hamilton.

C. J. NEWSON, Citizens' Committee, School Board: We are now coming to the end of our short but fairly strenuous campaign and from now on the issue is squarely up to you. You are fortunate I think, in that the candidates before you on the whole are people of standing and of good character. The vital difference between them consists in the things they stand for.

We of the Citizens Committee do not claim that we have the only men of ability on our slate, but we do say that we are the only ones offering ourselves for this election who will not have to answer for our actions to any party, class or group, but only to the citizens of Edmonton as a whole.

We deplore the entry of politics once again into civic affairs, and the politicians we do not intend the classic definition of "the science of government", but rather, the everyday meaning of "the strife of rival parties."

We are afraid that the Edmonton School Board, for instance, may be used for political advantage in other programs, to educate the electorate, instead of the school children, to make the school board merely a soundgar, board and a debating ground for provincial or dominion politics. We are afraid, that in obedience to party discipline, party issues first, and the issues before the Edmonton School Board may be settled and determined by remote control, party leaders.

If you are C.C.F. or Civic-Progressive at heart, that is fine. But if you are not, and if you are one who hopes to obtain good business-like administration in your civic affairs, rather than an Utopia at some indeterminate future time, vote the Citizens' Committee slate.

DENY ALLEGATIONS

Our opponents have been free in implying that we, the Citizens' Committee candidates, first, are nominees of the old line parties, and second, that we are backed by financial interests. I feel I am entitled to speak for all of us when such an attack is made upon our integrity. We categorically deny that there is any basis for such an assumption. This sinister allegation is not worthy of those candidates who have put forward the suggestion.

I wish once again to assure you that if you grant me the great privilege and honor of serving you as school trustee, I will do all in my power to justify your confidence by giving sound and impartial administration to the best of my ability.

GUY PATTERSON, K.C., Civic Progressive, Aldermanic: The Journal has seen fit to attack those who have opposed the Calgary Power company in its endeavors to get concessions from our publicly-owned plant and has even named myself. I am proud of the part that I have played during my four years in council in furthering the development of public ownership as evidenced by our present power plant.

In doing what I have done I may not always have been right. Edmonton is my home and I possibly see the matter entirely from the local point of view.

The Journal, on the other hand, being part of a nation-wide publishing organization is no doubt concerned with the privately owned public utilities which are nationwide in their application.

We differ in the application of the principle; they may be right in subjecting the smaller to the larger field, but I feel that I am on the right road in guarding the Journal's field, namely, the City of Edmonton.

AWARE OF FACTS

I have said before that I know the history of the power development in this city and have no regrets on any stand I have taken. My enthusiasm at times may make me over-cautious. The Journal would say suspicious. I was the only one to vote against the pool agreement submitted to the city through the Calgary Power company.

I am convinced that the sooner we stand on our own feet, with the possible exception of an interchange agreement, the better for the development of public ownership in this city.

If people of the City of Edmonton want me to remain on council and continue to take the stand that I have always taken on power development, they can show it at the polls. If, on the other hand, they regard me as a nuisance, standing in the way of what the Journal feels to be the contributions of the Calgary Power company to this city, then they can show it by passing on to the others on the slate.

Whatever happens, I will hold to the conviction that it would be well for the citizens of this city to have on council aldermen who will stand against the encroachments of private interests whose primary motive is their own profit. You may get some of these men from the Citizens' Committee but it is contrary to their complexion.

The Citizens' Committee prides itself on having no platform or policy. This indicates that they either have no knowledge of civic affairs or lack interest. If they knew Edmonton as a corporation and understood municipal organization and government, they would have both platform and policy.

If you know your city and are intensely interested in it as a city you will be filled with your subject and can enunciate platforms and policies. Numerous cities are developing and bettering Edmonton as the home of Edmontonians can be suggested as policy or platform. Some Citizens' Committee aldermen sit on council week after week attaining almost complete silence.

V. A. PORTER, Citizens' Committee, Aldermanic: I have resided in Edmonton for many years and consider myself speaking of my own family that have served for some years in various organizations, such as the Board of Trade, Royal Alexandra hospital, the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce and the Y.M.C.A. This is, however, the first time that my name has been placed before you for consideration and, I hope, your support at the poll.

Changed conditions have made it possible for me to give the necessary time and attention to this work and, if elected, I will try to serve you faithfully and to the best of my ability, approaching all matters that may come before the council with an open mind and in the interests of the citizens as a whole.

CONTINUE TO EXPAND

During my years of residence in the city, I have seen much growth and many improvements and feel sure that it will continue to grow and improve, possibly beyond our present conception, if we have a representative body of citizens at the helm at all times can and will do much, by their administration, to direct that growth and keep the city's finances on a sound basis. There is a need for further improvement now and there always will be, if we are progressive, but, because of the shortage of manpower and materials, some such improvements may have to wait until conditions have improved.

We admit our first civic objective is to win the war and then the peace but, in the meantime, may one suggest that it is our duty to keep the home front in balance and not, even to our civic administration.

Wednesday, November 10, will give you an opportunity to use your franchise and I am hopeful that you will see fit to use it and as you think is in the best interests of our city, I appeal to you for your support at the poll, not only for myself, but for all those whose names appear on the Citizens' Committee ticket.

R. F. ROBERTSON, Citizens' Committee, School Board: I have stressed throughout this campaign only one promise: to give to education the best at my disposal. I do not know all the facts relative to schools, and I am not ready to express any opinion yet, but having operated my own business in South Edmonton for many years, I feel that conducting of such business will have some value in dealing with the work on the school board. I will do my best, and I seek your support.

Voting is a privilege and not a penalty. Only by getting out and voting for your choice can you be sure of getting the best administration.

R. SUTHERLAND, Citizens' Committee, School Board: Edmonton public school board handles a lot of money, spending nearly one and a half million dollars annually. What is it used for? To see our children get the best possible education.

There are, in my opinion, no better teachers than the Edmonton teachers. The buildings and equipment are good.

True, we do need and will need more new schools, but, in most cases, these will have to wait until after the close of the war. All urgent repairs have been made.

When new buildings are built, I hope the present system of paying as we build may be continued. I think that our buildings are going to rack and ruin.

BUILDING REQUIRED

One new building is needed, and I think if we get permission from Ottawa for materials, we may build it next year. I have no apologies for the past, and have just completed four years service on the Edmonton public school board. I am again appealing to you for your support.

I have nothing more to say beyond this: Why should politics of any kind enter into the election of four people to the Edmonton public school board? I think that it should not be so.

W. H. THORNTON, C.C.F.-Labor School Board: Last Friday evening my friend Mr. Ottewell made the statement, "I am always interested to get advice from some who know little about schools. I am on the curriculum committee of which you have heard so much."

This was no doubt in answer to my statement of the same evening, "I doubt if the Edmonton public school board has made any study of the needs of education under the new curriculum, for the school plant falls far short of meeting any but the elementary needs."

Does Mr. Ottewell know all about schools while his opponents know nothing about them?

I am well aware of his position in connection with the University of Alberta and also his committee activities on certain advisory committees of the department of education of the province. I also know that no one should have a better knowledge of the needs of education for the present curriculum. All these facts I have known for some period of time.

NO STUDY MADE

However, this does not alter the fact that the Edmonton public school board has made no study of the needs of education under this new curriculum. If it had you could publicly recognize the fruit of such study in school developments. The practice has been to pare the program down to the lowest possible price, instead of building it up to a standard of quality.

Perhaps, I have made the mistake of speaking of my own personal qualifications. I have received all my elementary and high school education in this city, not to mention a university career that I had to abandon. Having been completely through the school mill, I should know something of the Edmonton schools.

I have been very active and very interested in young people's activities and during the late 1920's and 1930's was mentor to and very close to a great number of students who were frustrated in their educational ambitions.

I have made a sincere and honest study of the public school problems. I do not claim to be a professional educationalist. I have a contribution to make and am running under the C.C.F. banner because I believe the C.C.F. has the best program for education.

But let us do our part. Let me urge you to rededicate yourself anew to the principles of democracy in act as well as in word, by making some effort and sacrifice to get out and vote on November 10 and prove your faith in democracy, remembering that the great sacrifices being made on the war fronts for democracy make yours look small.

It is said that less than 35 per cent of the registered electors voted last year. There is so little interest in civic matters that it is of no value to hold an election. This is the most damning statement of all, because it is so nearly true. Are we as citizens, who believe in democracy, and willing to fight for democracy going to let this condition exist. Our democracy was bought at a high price of blood, work, sweat and tears.

M. M. DOWNEY, Citizens' Committee, Alderman: I am pleased to again have the opportunity for a few minutes of speaking in the Memorial hall on matters of vital interest to the electors of Edmonton.

I am a firm believer in the pay as you go policy. The city has accumulated a surplus of $2,167,000 which is invested in Victory Bonds, and which will be spent when the war is over and the men now overseas will be back with us again. These men and women entitled to given their former positions which they gave up to enter various branches of the service. Work must also be provided for those who had not been permanently employed but who also entered the army, the navy or the air force. A problem will also be created when we must place in various capacities those who have occupied important positions which they must vacate to make way for those returning.

The school system adopted much the same policy and have acquired a surplus of over $200,000, which will be spent on new schools, and the maintenance and modernization of present buildings. A start on modernization has already been made.

This city is badly in need of additional equipment for its transportation system and other public utilities.

SERIOUS LABOR SHORTAGE

During the last year when the housing plan was proceeded with, it was felt that the shortage would be for material, but it was found that the greatest difficulty was the acute shortage of labor. Certain classes of material will be hard to secure for a while, but this will be remedied rapidly as labor and now being used for war material will be used to provide articles which we need and which cannot be obtained while the war is in progress.

As soon as our young men and women who are serving at the front return to civilian employment, will be solved so far as shortage of labor is concerned. When these young men and women enlisted promises were made to them. It will be the duty of members of the council to see that these pledges are lived up to.

Of course much of the rehabilitation policy is a federal responsibility and on reconstruction we no doubt receive help from the Dominion government in certain building projects. However this does not relieve us of our responsibility, and these matters will receive every consideration from me.

The housing question and that of the transportation system has been dealt with by me at former meetings, and ably reported in the daily press. Close attention will be given by me to those matters. One is not unmindful of the many needs of the city. Sidewalks, and new sewer and water mains provided, buses purchased, and other public expenditures made, which will be taken up as labor and material is made available.

I consider the Citizens' nominees for the city council and the school board to be a well balanced slate, and composed of men who will serve the electorate faithfully. The majority of these men are those who have acted on your various municipal boards, and the new ones are men who are keen, live, capable citizens and ready to devote their time to your interests.

WELLESLEY FRASER, Civic-Progressive, School Board: I have accepted the nomination of the Civic-Progressive Association to run as a candidate for election to the school board.

This association believes that the affairs of the city can best be administered by officials who are free from political influence.

May I say that I have taught school in Edmonton for the last 22 years and for the past 14 years have been principal of McKay Avenue school. During that time I have come into close contact with the schools, teachers and children of this city and, therefore, believe I am qualified to render you satisfactory service on the school board.

Let me draw to your attention the false economical procedure that has been practised by our present school board, for example:

These are the amounts asked for by the superintendent of schools' plants for the upkeep of the schools and also the amounts granted to him by the board:

	Asked	Passed or for Granted
1940	$56,529	$42,000
1941	48,470	31,963
1942	41,596	36,000

A total cut in 3 years of $36,612.

And the result: The estimates of our competent and efficient superintendent of plants, ignored, and as a result many of our schools are in a most deplorable condition. What false economy!

A member of the school board, at a recent meeting made the sarcastic remark that he liked to be given advice on school matters by people who knew little about them. Undoubtedly our plant superintendent would be justified in returning such a left-handed compliment to some of our school board members.

Again, we are told nurses are paid to test the eyesight of school children, and to the children of parents who are unable to pay for glasses, they are furnished free of cost. That is as it should be.

DEFECTIVE LIGHTING

But the incongruity of this procedure is that while these precautions are being taken; because of defective lighting systems in several of our schools, children are subjected to eye-strain, causing the very eye-trouble we are endeavoring to relieve.

Due consideration should be given to the refunding of the school debt and to securing a lower rate of interest.

The school debt at the present time is $2,250,000 on which we pay interest at the rate of a little over 5 per cent.

I am sure you will agree with me that 3 per cent is a fair and sufficient rent to pay on borrowed money. The continental railways have, from time to time, borrowed from the federal government at the rate of 2½ and 3 per cent. Our federal government pays us 3 per cent on money it borrows from us and the banks give us from 1½ to 2 per cent on our savings deposits.

Why not, then, refund this debt and endeavor to secure a reduced yet fair and reasonable rate of interest, say 3 per cent, and thus save to the ratepayers a yearly amount of $45,450, sufficient to build and equip, every four years, an up-to-date school valued at $180,000.

A. P. GREGORY, C.C.F.-Labor Aldermanic: It has been suggested by a candidate of the Citizens' Committee, that the time has come when representatives of this city must meet with the provincial and provincial authorities to thresh out the many problems of after the war reconstruction, and that at that time comes you could be better represented by a member of the City Council slate. I have discussed on public platforms in this campaign that they had no policy, therefore could meet as equals, representatives of another government, when also to date have no declared policy for reconstruction.

I submit that representatives at any such conference should have a policy, and it should be for the benefit of the citizens as a whole.

The policy of the C.C.F. is one that has been studied and debated and designed to benefit the masses.

There are many phases of civic life that have developed as a war emergency, the worst of which are slum conditions. However, we are ready to admit that this could not be altogether avoided under the circumstances, but it will be necessary to keep a watchful eye on this situation, and insist on improvements in our housing and slum conditions.

If we are to have healthy citizens we must see to it that slum conditions are removed.

We of the C.C.F. believe we are collectively responsible for the welfare of our fellow-citizens, and will not tolerate poverty amidst plenty with our individual comforts.

Let me remind you that war prosperity is only a temporary thing and unless all public bodies plan now for eventual saving to peace time condition, it will not be long after hostilities cease before we drift back to soup kitchens, relief, and all the sordid conditions of the thirties that were a disgrace to a Christian nation.

EXERCISE FRANCHISE

Again I ask all who possess that valuable asset of democracy, the franchise, to exercise it on every possible occasion. Do not allow the battles of our forebears for this inestimable right to have been in vain, or, we might eventually find ourselves having to fight the battles over again.

This is the last occasion on which I can make an appeal for the support of the electors of Edmonton for this term of office. If you think I can be of service to you on your aldermanic board, I solicit your vote for myself and the C.C.F. slate.

MRS. M. E. BUTTERWORTH, C.C.F.-Labor, School Board: I have been asked a question as to the part the C.C.F. will play in civic, provincial and dominion fields of administration. I am particularly interested in my own school and the field of education but I will say that the attitude of the C.C.F. is primarily fixed in the welfare of the people. In my field it is the welfare and education of students.

I am afraid it is all too easy to see where that policy has not been in effect. Our schools are not such that we can be proud of them.

We have been operating our schools as a paying proposition, which is wrong, because the payment is in the results obtained in our students.

If we had considered the students first we would not have closed our technical school.

We have been told that there is a war on and that the government needed the building. I have

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW by Hal Dean

SPORTS EDITOR

MOST of the fire in tonight's men's basketball card at Westglen gym is expected to come from the second half of the double bill when the high-powered Yanks from the U.S. Air Base clash with U.S. Station Hospital. Little has been heard regarding either Bechtel, Price, Callahan or the Y.M.C.A. who supply the curtain raiser at 7:30.

Rated as two of the six top teams in the league, the Yanks, coached by Lt. George Regitko and Hospital under the dual membership of Lt. Wayne Binns and Lt. Howard Smith, both are reputed to have very choice parcels of goods for sale.

Yanks will probably start Lt. W. T. Dawson and WO. M. M. Milner at guard with Cpl. Manuel Dorsky and Lt. Joseph V. Long at forward and Pvt. Paul Blawi at centre. Dawson is from Topeka, Kas., and played at Washburn U., while Milner is a Californian. Dorsky, remembered as a fleet outfielder for the Yanks ball club last summer, saw service with University of Alabama team. Long played with Purgry prep school of U. of Notre Dame and Blawi with George Washington U.

Warren Taulbee, whose height doesn't belie his name, having up-right dimensions of 6 feet, 5 inches will according to advance information be one of the starry performers in the league. Other players expected to play for the Hospital are: eGorge Ralph, Pleasant Hill, Ill.; Phil Lurk, Peru State Teachers College, Nebraska; Joe Olexo, of Cleveland who played with John Carroll U.; Leonard Woodring, a Pennsylvanian from Wheaton College; George Miller, Chicago; Mickey Smagula, ex-pro from New Jersey; Norbert Schroeder, Norman Langer and Harley Dillard.

OSCAR BOWERS DROWNED

OLD-TIME Edmonton baseball fans will learn with regret of the death in California last month of Oscar Bowers, who was drowned while on a fishing trip.

Bowers, a big, raw-boned pitcher with a blazing fast ball, became a stand-out in semi-pro ball in Alberta and Saskatchewan during the years 1919 to 1923 and was an ace, along with the brilliant "Tiny" Turner and Chuck Chekaluk, on the outstanding Mountain Park team that proved one of the best semi-pro teams ever to operate in the West.

After leaving this province, in 1924 he went to the Butte, Mont., Mines league and then to Seattle in the Pacific Coast League in 1925. He was released to Salt Lake in 1926 and finished the season with Twin Falls, while he wound up his baseball career.

At the time of his death he lived at Orinda, near Oakland, and operated two restaurants in Oakland.

HERE AND THERE . . .

THREE former Edmonton hockey players are included in on rosters of Winnipeg Senior League clubs. Doug Lewis and Duckey Skinner are with the Navy crew, H.M.C.S. Chippewa and George Agar will be doing line duty for the Army.

It is reported plans are well advanced for the holding of a big inter-service boxing show here on Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 13 and 14, with contestants already being groomed in most of the Canadian and American units in the city. On the following Friday, Dec. 17, the winners will be sent against representatives from Camrose and other outside units.

Inter-service basketball is slated to get under way within the next few days, but all-local hockey arrangements will have to remain in abeyance until more ice-like weather arrives. Ken Henry, manager of the Canadian Athletic Club juniors is anxiously scanning the horizon for a goalie to take the place of Don Murray, juvenile recently taken into the Patrick chain. Ken doesn't appear unduly worried over prospects for the team though.

Longshot Wins $7,500 Handicap At Pimlico Track

BALTIMORE, Nov. 9.—(CP)—Miss Ella Widener's Iron Shot, the longest shot in a field of six jumpers, won the 23rd running of the $7,500 added Manly Steeplechase handicap at Pimlico Monday.

M. A. Cushman's Rouge Dragon was favored at the mutuels but finished a bad last.

Iron Shot was ridden by Norman Brown and covered the approximately 2½ miles, including 18 hedges, in 5.09 3-5 over a west course. The victory was worth $6,475 to Miss Widener.

Iron Shot returned $7.50, $7.40 and $3.20 for $2 at the mutuels.

Mrs. Albert Sabath's Alsab returned to the winner's circle for the first time in nearly a year when he won the $2,000 Discovery Purse, covering the 1 1-16th miles in 1:49 4-5 over a muddy track. He was ridden by George Woolf of Carstairs, Alta., and at the finish held a three-length margin over G. T. Strother's Abrasion. He paid $6.60 for $2.

Boys Go Fishing, But Hook Rabbit

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Nov. 9—(AP)—Donald Holland and Richard Wieand, both 11, went fishing and caught a rabbit. One of their hooks became lodged in underbrush along the bank of a stream. Slowly, fighting every inch of the way, out came a rabbit, the hook lodged in its tail.

Helps Football Sportscasters

Another Man's Job Bites Dust; Blue-Eyed Blonde Spots Plays

By SAM DAVIS

NEW YORK, Nov. 9—Another man's job bites the dust. It's that of spotter for football play-by-play announcers. Ruby Hunter, 20, blonde, blue-eyed and very pretty, helps broadcasters keep straight and up to the minute at Columbia's games, and that's quite a job this fall. Army 52, Columbia 0, for example.

Miss Hunter, surrounded by records in the recorded music department of a New York radio station, heard that a spotter was needed. When she volunteered, they thought she was kidding, but the five-foot five, 125-pound top has since been the official spotter for sportscasters Joe O'Brien and Don Phillips.

Miss Hunter was born in Raleigh, speaks with a slight and pleasing drawl. An only child, her parents migrated to Trenton when she was six. There were no girls in Ruby's neighborhood, so she palled with boys, became the star halfback of the Glen-Afton team. Teammates called her Flash, insisted that she carry the ball.

DISCS ARE PLAYERS

When Ruby got a little older, she naturally gave up playing and became a Princeton rooter. Ruby obtained her non-football education at Randolph-Macon College for Women at Lynchburg and the American Academy of Dramatic Arts in New York. She aspires to be an actress, rates an extra curtain call right now.

Miss Hunter has just been promoted. She has been put in charge of producing dramatic sketches. She is the executive type of personality, answers three telephone calls while speaking to you, but she'll miss the recordings of Prokofiev and Benny Goodman.

At her spotter's station, Miss Hunter works behind binoculars in front of a board with 22 discs in football formation—11 light blue for Columbia and as many orange for the other side. The name and number of a player is on each disc.

KEEPS GAME GOING

There is no time out for even a smoke and, naturally, the more replacements the more work for Miss Hunter. She'll never forget the Yale-Columbia engagement. Six Eli suits disappeared from the locker room. They happened to belong to first stringers who appeared in jerseys with numbers plastered on with adhesive.

One play and you couldn't tell Tim Hoopes from Howie Odell, but Ruby came through with a little faking here and there—what an afternoon!

Ruby's parents, Lt. Comdr. and Mrs. William Fred Hunter, are now in Washington. She tells you that her father has a fine mythematical mind.

Miss Hunter is a swimming and skiing addict, loves cheap horror movies and food. When she arrives on her job in the morning she concentrates on what to have for dinner. She can eat anyone under the boards. Her favorite dish is "Turkey Tony's Pie," served at a little uptown joint near her place of business. It is whit meat intermixed with stringbeans and cheese.

The up-and-coming actress designs her own chic clothes with mother running the garments up on the sewing machine. Her favorite colors are black and yellow.

Ruby is more than a diamond in the rough. She's a gem.

And confidentially she doesn't think Columbia has a powerhouse. You can't fool Ruby.

Ruby Hunter keeps her eye on the ball.

Annual East-West Title Clash for Grey Cup at Toronto

Dominion Football Final Set for Nov. 27

Eight Teams Still Remain In Running

TORONTO, Nov. 9—(CP)—Hamilton Cassels, president of the Canadian Rugby Union, last night announced that the annual east-west game for the Dominion football championship and the Grey cup would be played in Varsity Stadium in Toronto Saturday Nov. 27. The announcement, which said also that eastern Canada final would be played in Toronto, Nov. 20, came as eight teams were still in the running to enter the annual Dominion title game—six in the east and two in the west.

The West's representatives in the East-West game will be decided this Thursday in Regina in the second game of a twogame total-point series between the Winnipeg R.C.A.F. Bombers and Regina Roughriders. Winnipeg carries a one-point lead into the game by virtue of their 1-0 conquest of Riders in the first game at Winnipeg Saturday.

The champions of the Quebec Rugby Football Union and the Ontario Rugby Union will meet in the eastern Canada final.

In the Ontario Union, Hamilton Flying Wildcats are in first place and will be one of the two teams in the sudden-death play-off game in Hamilton this Saturday. The other two teams in the running are Toronto R.C.A.F. Hurricanes, Dominion champions last year, and Toronto Balmy Beach. Beaches, one point behind Hurricanes, can enter the playoffs by beating Toronto Navy in the final scheduled game of the season here Wednesday night.

Lachine R.C.A.F., Montreal Navy and Verdun Grads are in the running in the Q.R.F.U. The airmen now are in first place, two points up on Navy and four on the Grads. However Grads' final scheduled contest this Saturday is a six-point game with McGill and R.C.A.F. and Navy meet in another contest. A two-way or even a three-way tie for the leadership is possible. However, the union's rules provide that in the event of a tie the team with the best scoring average will be declared champions.

Mr. Cassels' announcement said that the arrangements for the eastern and Canadian finals were made at a recent meeting of the C.R.U. executive with members unable to be present expressing their views by letter.

Eastern and western finalists would have the opportunity of agreeing on officials but if they failed to do so within four days of the game, the appointment would be made by the president, the announcement concluded.

Army Runner Repeats Triumph

—Canadian Army Photo

Sgt. Gerard Cote, 30, of St. Hyacinthe, Que., Canadian Army physical training instructor, repeated his feat of three years when he won the 26-mile Yonkers-New York road race on Sunday. Cote won the Boston marathon in 1940 and again last spring, and definitely has entered the ranks of the all-time great runners. Above on the left Cote is breasting the tape, and on the right he shows he knows plenty about the business of soldiering too.

Krol Closest Rival With 48

Stukus Cinches Scoring Title

TORONTO, Nov. 9—(CP)—Annis Stukus, Toronto Balmy Beach quarterback, has cinched the scoring championship of the Ontario Rugby Union senior series, it was show last night in the weekly statistics compiled by The Canadian Press.

With one more game to go against Navy, Stukus now has 59 points, set on three touchdowns, 10 field goals, five singles and 10 converts. His closest rival is Joe Krol of Hamilton Flying Wildcats whose six touchdowns, one field goal, eight singles and seven converts give him 48 points. Hamilton's schedule is finished and Krol has no chance of overtaking Stukus.

The big two gained little ground in the last week. Stukus added only three points to his total with a field goal. Krol scored two points, both on converts, in the game.

Walter Gibb of Hamilton, in third place, picked up four to bring his total to 35.

Sgt. Charlie Prince of the Hurricanes moved into fourth place on the strength of nine points in two games, his total now being 29.

Biggest point-getter of the week was big Paul Miocinovich of Hamilton who scored two touchdowns Saturday and one last Wednesday to bring his point total for the season to 25. He is in fifth place, with George Fraser of Ottawa right behind him. Fraser scored seven points Saturday to make his total 23.

Notre Dame Still Monopolizes Poll

NEW YORK, Nov. 9—(AP)—Notre Dame headed every ballot cast in this week's Associated Press football poll to determine the 10 leading college teams in the United States—the first time any club ever received unanimous approval.

The Irish, who have monopolized the top rung all year, brushed aside all other threats for a first-place vote by defeating Army 26-0 in New York Saturday.

Purdue retained second place in the poll but Army skidded from third to sixth place because it lost to the Irish.

The leading teams, counting 10 points for a first-place vote, nine for second and so on (first place votes in parenthesis):

Notre Dame, (91) 910; Purdue, 570; Nacy, 518; Michigan, 486; Iowa Pre-Flight, 409; Army, 404; Duke, 308; Northwestern 285; Southern California, 250; Pennsylvania, 131.

CANADIAN SPORTSHOOTS

By CHARLIE EDWARDS

TORONTO, Nov. 9.—(CP)—New York hockey writers are ribbing the weak Rangers. Dan Parker says Frank Boucher's return may be the forerunner of a trend in hockey and adds: "This is a warning to Lester Patrick to get on those shin pads and brush up on his skating. He may be in there himself before the season warms up." . . . Before Don Grosso returned to Detroit Red Wings he applied for army enlistment in Toronto but didn't pass his medical. However, Grosso asked the army doctors their opinion of his physical ability to play hockey and they gave him the okay.

FIRST SHOTS

The fund to establish a hockey Hall of Fame in Kingston, Ont., is on its way. When Boston Bruins played that 9-9 exhibition tie with Frontenacs in Kingston last Wednesday, the gate of $2,098 was the highest in history there. Bruins donated their entire one-third share to the Hall of Fame fund.

INCUBATOR:

Vic Copps of the Timmins Press figures results of this year's professional hockey trials indicate Northern Ontario's Porcupine district will be an important incubator for hockey talent. He quotes Fred Cox, Detroit Red Wings scout, as saying the Porcupine circuit will be watched closely in future by the big league clubs. This year the Porcupine contributed Eric Prentice to Toronto Leafs, George Defilice to Detroit's farm club, Indianapolis, Freddy Belanger to the Buffalo Bisons junior farm at Brantford, Bill Curnick and Dave Robertson to the Detroit junior farm at Galt.

INCIDENTALLY:

Warren Stevens, former university athlete who coached University, of Toronto football team for years, is taking an R.C.A.F. assignment at Ottawa. It is understood he will work in connection with the new duty fitness program . . . Doug Vaughan of the Windsor Star notes Toronto Hurricanes have been ribbing Joe Krol. Hamilton half-back, and recalls that when Krol was playing in Windsor an opponent charged him with being afraid to tackle. "On the next play Krol hit an enemy ball carrier so hard both didn't get up for several minutes. . . . Two plays later Krol ran 47 yards for a touchdown."

In the new arrangement Hospital will play in the games that N.W.D. were previously scheduled to take part in and the first contests of Nov. 23 and 30 have been switched. The second encounters on these dates remaivn the same.

The revision of the schedule has also made it possible for a girls' fixture to be played in the preliminary of Dec. 7th.

League Opens Nov. 15

Winniped Hockey Squads Well Supplied With Talent

WINNIPEG, Nov. 9—(CP)—Winnipeg senior hockey coaches have something big league puck moguls would give their eye teeth for—an abundance of playing talent. With the opening of the Armed Forces Hockey League less than a week away, mentors of the loop's three teams have no kicks to offer as far as available material is concerned.

For instance Fit-Lt. Bill Cockburn has a raft of experienced performers around which to mould his 1942-43 edition of Winnipeg R.C.A.F. Bombers. A glance over the list will bear this fact out.

In goal Cockburn has Sgt. Scotty Milne, Saskatchewan lad who used to stop pucks for Harringay and Wembley teams in the English English League, and on the defence he has Cpl. Wally Stanowski and AC1. Alf Pike, former star blueliners in the National Hockey League, and Sgt. Butch Marchant.

Forward candidates include three other National Leaguers, LAC. Pete Langelle, LAC. Joe Krol and LAC. Paul Platz, and Sgt. Rene Trudel LAC. Roy McBride, AC1. Bill Snider, Cpl. Jack Ablett and Sgt. Bob Luney.

Although not boasting the same number of headliners as Airmen, H.M.C.S. Chippawa under Harry Neil are also comfortably fixed for the approaching campaign.

Guarding the nets is OS. Gordie Bell, who recorded nine shutouts for Buffalo Bisons last winter in the American Hockey League. On the defence is another ex-Buffalo player, OS. Bill Allum, along with OS. Bill Heindel, LS. Hugh Millar and OS. Remi Van Daele. Tabbed for forward line duty are OS. Joe Bell, OS. Wally Stefaniw, OS. Doug Lewis, LS. Lou Medynski, OS. Vic Lofendahl, OS. Ducky Skinner, OS. Gus Schwartz, OS. Cal Gardner and OS. Spence Tatchell.

Army, the third member of the circuit, also has some fine ice ivory in its camp. Bossed by Art Somers, one time leader of Moose Jaw Millers and Victoria Machinery Depot, the line-up is graced by such names as Bob Kirkpatrick, last year a member of New York Rangers; Cpl. George Agar, Cpl. Steve Woochey, late of St. Catharines and Port Arthur, and Pte. Jim McFadden.

Winnipeg R.C.A.F. Bombers and H.M.C.S. Chippawa provide the fireworks in the league's opening game Nov. 15.

Aggie Holdover A Man-and-Half

STILLWATER, Okla., Nov. 9.—Coach Hank Iba could count on one experienced basketball player when he issued the first call at Oklahoma A. and M. But the one veteran from last season should be figured as at least a man-and-a-half. He is the serious Bob Kurland. Footballs Kurland is too tall for the Army, but not too tall to operate under a basket. The Cowboys go east in mid-December, playing the season's opener at Madison Square Garden and appear in Buffalo and Philadelphia before the holidays.

V

Swell Idea!

DETROIT, Nov. 9.—Tommy Colella, Detroit Lions halfback, was discharged from the Marine Corps because he is allergic to 25 different foods, three weeds, two trees and feathers.

Since rejoining the Lions Colella is trying to develop an allergy to tackles.

U.S. Army Yanks Name 14 Players For Cage League

United States Army Yanks, a new entry in thre Jumbo 11 team Edmonton Men's Basketball league, last night named 14 players whom it is expected will be with the club during the season.

The Yanks, coached by Lt. Geo. Regitko, swing into action tonight when they meet another American squad, Hospital, in the second half of the double header at Westglen.

Only member of the team that has played basketball here before is Capt. Frank Wrigglesworth, who was on the champion Engineers last season.

Following are the list of players:

Lt. W. T. Dawson, 26, played high school, Birmingham, Ala., played college ball with University of Alabama and Birmingham Reds.

Lt. W. T. Dawson, 26, played high school basketball with Topeka, Kas., college, with Washburn university and 20th Century Fox.

Lt. Joseph V. Long, 19, played with Purgry Prep, school and University of Notre Dame, New Jersey.

Pvt. Paul Blawi, 21, college basketball with George Washington U., is from Baltimore.

Cpl. Dillis Sanderfer, 20, played with Center Town high school, also independent.

Lt. J. H. Sisson, 25, played with Cheyenne high and Wyoming State university.

Capt. Sgt. Vernon Stewart, 23, played high school, college and independent basketball.

Others on the team include: W.O. M. M. Milner, 30, played in California circ., J. P. Guattella, now on leave; Pvt. C. Bourne.

Victoria Navy Clips Wings of Seahawks 8-6

NEW WESTMINSTER, Nov. 9.—(CP)—Victoria Navy outplayed Royal Canadian Navy completely outplayed the Sea Island R.C.A.F. Seahawks two periods last night and then weathered a final Air Force drive to gain an 8-6 victory in the first ever undisputed first place in the new Pacific Coast Senior Amateur Hockey League.

Navy Wingman Hal Brown was everywhere in the opening period and his three goals and an assist played a big part in the Navy win, second in as many games for the sailors.

AB. Gordie Petrie and AB. Murdo McKay each got two for Navy and Stoker Jack Thomson scored the other. Bride, Blade, LAC. Jack Adams, Johnny Quilty, Low and Ed. Shamlock scored for the airmen.

Only Two Minutes College Football

NEW YORK, Nov. 9—Bill Paschal played only two minutes of college football, but with eight touchdowns in four games the New York Giants' recruit fullback, passer and punter is only six points behind Don Hutson of Green Bay, who is setting the pace for National League scorers. In four pre-season engagements Paschal totalled seven touchdowns, returned a kick-off 99 yards through the heart of the Chicago Bears.

The fleet and husky Atlantan was recommended by Coach Bill Alexander of Georgia Tech, where his career was quickly terminated when he was injured failing from a double-deck bed.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—It's "anchors aweigh" again with Navy now leading in the race for the eastern football championship, thanks to its 24-7 victory over previously unbeaten Pennsylvania Saturday before 72,000 fans at Philadelphia.

This, perhaps was the most timely triumph of the season. It was achieved just when the Sailors' hopes of grid glory seemed scuttled by Notre Dame's 33-6 broadside on OCt. 30 — a catastrophe that followed hard fighting with Georgia Tech, Penn State and Duke.

Moreover, Navy's triumph occurred on the same afternoon that Notre Dame crushed previously undefeated Army, 26-0, before 76,000 at New York, handing the Soldiers their second-worst trouncing in Cadet-Grid history.

Navy's margin over Penn was honey-sweet, for that same Penn team had held Army to a 13-13 tie only the week before.

NONE UNBEATEN IN EAST

WHEN the dust settled Saturday —after the Penn and Army debacle.. -not a major college team remained unbeaten in all the east. But Navy's blue and Gold gonfalon stood out among the vanquished, because the Sailors had suffered bht one mishap—the Notre Dame defeat—on their tough intersectional schedule. That schedule included North Carolina Pre-Flight, Cornell, Duke, Penn State and Georgia Tech.

Dartmouth has been beaten only once, unfortunately by Pennsylvania, and it still plays Cornell and Princeton. Likewise Brown and Rochester have lost but once; but their schedules are not on a par with Navy's. Penn and Army each have a loss and a tie charged against them. Cornell, Holy Cross and Villanova have lost twice, Bucknell and Temple have three defeats; Colgate and Penn State, three defeats plus their tie.

Accordingly, it seems that Navy will head the eastern parade at least until Nov. 27, when the middis tangle with army at West Point in the annual service classic. The gobs have but one game before then; they invade Columbia Saturday. Columbia's toothless Lions have suffered six straight defeats this season.

NAVY ENJOYING BEST

NAVY, enjoying a breather with Columbia Saturday and an open date on the 20th, will have plenty of time to point for Army. Meanwhile, the cadets will have less opportunity for such pointing. They tackle Sampson Naval Training Saturday; and Brown up at Providence the following week. Then the cadets should win both games; but they cannot afford to get careless against either opponent.

It is uncertain now whether Army or Navy will be favored in their big collision on the 27th. The future admirals looked much stronger against Penn than did the cadets. But Army seemed to have more land power against Notre Dame than the sailors. Notre Dame beat Navy, 33-6, and Army 26-0, the margin of victory being almost the same. But against Notre Dame's great line, Navy was held to minus seven yards rushing; whereas Army picked up 114 yards on the ground. It is possible that Hal Hamberg's excellent passing for Navy may more than off-set the cadets' apparent running superiority, one of these service squads will Anway, it's almost certain that march out of West Point's Michie stadium on the 27th eastern champion.

Race Selector Meets Ex-Jock

Army Duties Bring About Renewal of Turf Friendship

CALGARY, Nov. 9.—There are plenty of spots where you might expect racetrackers to meet. It might be in the morning along the rail as a couple of likely two-year-olds break away from the quarter pole. It might be along the stable row as trainers discuss the chances of their charges in the coming card or it might be in the grandstand in the afternoon as a field goes postwards in the colorful post parade. And, perchance, if it is winter you might find these selfsame racetrackers on some southern course.

But it wasn't so recently when ex-Jockey Johnny Mulrooney and the former Edmonton Bulletin race selector, Denny Layzell, happened to meet again after an absence of several years.

On the windswept Sarcee Indian Reserve near Calgary one night recently, hundreds of soldiers from Currie Infantry Training Centre battled a blazing fire which was spreading over hundreds of acres of prairie land and brush.

TOOK PICTURE

An army photographer, making his way through the smoke, stopped to take a picture of a group toiling with shovels and wet sacks to halt the advance of the flames.

As a flashbulb lit up the scene one of the smoke-blackened firefighters remarked, "Say, fella, save one of these for a fellow named Mulrooney."

"Which Mulrooney?" the cameraman queried.

"Johnny Mulrooney," the soldier replied.

The shutter-shark moved closer and peered through the smoke. He was Denny Layzell and it didn't take him long to recognize the former saddle artist of the prairie circuit even though the ex-Jock has put on quite a little weight since his riding days.

Right there the pair, Sgt. Denny Layzell of the Public Relations Staff and Pte. Johnny Mulrooney, soon to go overseas, stopped to talk of the turf and of other racetrackers in the service, including three former riders, Art Siewart, Willie Devlin and "Spooks" Ballantyne, who are keeping in trim by jockeying motorcycles with the Canadian forces in Italy.

WAS GREAT RIDER

There's quite a story they tell around Currie about ex-jockey Mulrooney. It seems that after spending much of his time while a saddle artist going light on food to fight the weight bugaboo he became a cook when first in the army and edibles became a major issue again —so much so in fact that his weight zoomed to the steeplechase riders' class.

Johnny was top ranking rider in his day and was under contract to Jack Lee of Winnipeg who, in the 30's, turned down offers of $10,000 and $25,000 for the Mulrooney contract. Johnny had a leg up on Battle Axe to win the 1935 running of the Pimlico but he still thinks Challenger 2nd was the best horse he ever rode.

Right now he's looking forward to that trip overseas but when it's over he plans to return to the saddle.

As for the former Bulletin selector he claims there is a race on at the present that he can pick exactly right even though the winners are less than even money. It's the World Wide Stakes with Churchill, Roosevelt and Stalin finishing in a dead heat, Hitler and Hirohito as also rans and Mussolini breaking down at the quarter pole.

Quarter century bowlers will compete in their 15th annual tournament in Chicago, Nov. 7, To be eligible you must have bowled 25 years or more.

Fireman Killed, Several Injured In Fierce Blaze

OAKLAND, Calif., Nov. 9.—(AP) —One fireman was killed and several injured fighting a four-alarm fire which destroyed a large warehouse and damaged undetermined quantities of trucks and equipment last night.

The building, adjoining a large war plant, was valued at $200,000. The war plant was not damaged.

Fireman William Chapman, a veteran with the department, collapsed from smoke inhalation and died enroute to a hospital.

A quantity of oil stored in the warehouse went up in a spectacular display of flame and black smoke.

Champagne Features Meet

Democratic Ascot Racing Over

By ALLAN NICKLESON

ASCOT, England, Nov. 9.—(CP)—A democratic Ascot which featured champagne and a record "double" dividend for 68 of the 20,000 persons in attendance closed its first wartime racing season with two autumn handicaps —substitutes for the great Cambridgeshire and Cesarewitch of peacetime.

More than 15,000 persons shared a few motor cars, a handful of horse-drawn vehicles ranging from shooting brakes to dog carts; a couple of thousand bicycles and the normal train services. The rest walked.

Unlike the "posh" Ascot of peacetime—fashion centre of flowered frocks and top-hats—there was no royal enclosure for members. If a fellow in a peak cap and scarf had the price of admission—$6.75—there were no social barriers.

Money flowed so freely the tote "double" on Ascot's Cambridgeshire and Cesarewitch totalled $72,237.50. And that's not counting the huge amount placed with bookmakers. Successful double backers received approximately $960 for each $2.25 invested.

The previous tote "double" record on British tracks was established at the same course in 1938 when $55,679 was taken.

Between races the multitude queued to buy champagne at $10.75 a bottle for 1929 vintage. That's more than 20 per cent less than ordinary current wholesale prices.

Field really would be the home of the greatest show on earth.

Gordon Expresses Dislike of Doing Training in East

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Let's pause and hemoan the dire plight of poor Joe Gordon. The Yankee's 28-year-old $20,000 a year—plus World Series take—second baseman is in a quandary, on the horns of a dilemma, etc. In fact, he can't seem to make up his mind, if any.

Leaving on a hunting trip in Oregon, Gordon said he was finished with baseball. He was tired of it, etc. But that didn't startle even Ed Barrow, who at the moment was in hospital with a heart attack.

Now Gordon, back from the hunting trip, says he will play provided there is major league baseball in 1944, which he doubts because of the drafting of fathers.

Trigger Gordon again goes off half-cocked in his latest communique by expressing his dislike of coming east to Asbury Park for spring training. It's too cold there, he complains. He contends he can get in better condition in his old home town of Eugene, where he has the facilities of the University of Oregon.

Perhaps just for Gordon the club should be permitted to go to Florida.

OTT'S SPEED NOT READ?

To play or not to play, to train on the Jersey shore among the Oregon firs, those are the questions causing Gordon's Hamlet complex.

Well, Joseph, there are a lot colder places than Asbury Park in the spring—Alaska and Iceland, for instance. And the pay there is not nearly so hot as it is as a star of the Yankees—and think of the hours.

Obviously Mel Ott's speech to the Giants last spring was read reading for the Yankees, or if it was at least one of them paid not the slightest attention.

Hitting at grousing, Manager Ott closed with: "We're lucky to be playing baseball. We're lucky to be alive."

ONLY 15 SPOKEN FOR

Judging by the major league draft meeting, the future doesn't augur well for professional baseball.

Only eight clubs grabbed 15 players, five less than were taken a year ago, when more than one owner was apprehensive.

There is a paucity of talent, of course, but there was no one eligible for the draft on whom eight clubs were willing to risk $7500.

Connie Mack, who with the New York Giants had first choice, didn't even put in an appearance.

Offhand, you would suspect the boys were a bit skeptical about the outlook.

Among those eligible for the draft was Floyd Caves Herman, who batted .354 in 81 games with the Hollywood Coasters.

Branch Rickey missed a bet in not grabbing the old Brooklyn Babe. With Lippy Leo Durocher and Babe Herman and his helmet, Ebbets

Baseball Scouts May Travel South

WICHITA, Nov. 9.—Major league scouts may be heading south of the border with the announcement from the National Baseball Congress that 31 national semi-professional championships are to be decided in the future. Commissioners of the 13 South and eight Central American republics and of other countries and territories are to be named.

The United States and Canadian programs are set for 1944 with the champions competing in a seven-game series. President Ray Dumont of the Congress expects 20 national championships to be decided next season. A world Series is planned when the war is won.

There are 2,295 schools on the island of Puerto Rico.

Civic Election Campaign Concludes As Candidates Speak at Two Meetings

been told the government did not ask for our school but they are now paying for the use of it. We are not only saving money by not running the school but are also taking in money from rent of it and in the meantime students are losing the opportunity of training they might have received.

The question has been raised of allowing women teachers to continue teaching after they become married. This is merely a matter of obeying the standing law. The school act allows equal rights and privileges to men and women teachers and I have never heard of a male teacher being dismissed because he got married.

We are told that labor asked for a ruling stating that women teachers must resign when they get married because of the unemployment situation which prevailed at the time. It was not considered right to have two pay envelopes going into the same household. That may be but we are not looking forward to another depression or periodic depressions. The C.C.F. party is not looking forward to periodic depressions.

We must see to it that these depressions do not occur. We have our future citizens of Canada in our children and we want to give them the best we can so they can build the best Canada.

C. E. GARIEPY, Citizens' Committee, Aldermanic: The papers report the sale of Beaver House to the provincial government by the Hudson's Bay Company. This is serious, as we lose another $7,562 in taxes. We already had lost over $13,000 due to sale of the former East End branch of the Bank of Commerce to house the treasury branch and the old Ramsey building property.

The provincial government will have to compensate property for loss of these taxes. If it is going in business, and the liquor business gives it over $4,900,000 in net profits, it should pay taxes. Other provinces give a share of liquor taxes or theatre taxes to municipalities but in our own province the profits are used for one experiment after another, and the government invades fields previously untouched by governments.

We must be prepared for re-establishment of our boys when they return from the services. The city has undertaken to give a returned man his job on his return, and has not taken men except in temporary positions. This we will live up to.

Improvements to utilities are to be made after the war and funds are accumulating for public improvements to streets, utilities, and we will give work to discharged men. I trust the returned men will see that the senior governments do their full duty on this and Edmonton will do hers.

We must make a better city for them when they return, a city of thriving, contented people, a truly live city in the great west of tomorrow.

Vote Wednesday for the Citizens' ticket, but get out and vote, as is your duty and right.

J. H. DOWLER, C.C.F. - Labor, Aldermanic: It is not the name of the party that counts it is their platform that counts. And this idea is politics no matter how you look at it and no matter how much the Citizens' Committee try to make the people believe they are non-political.

The big posters on the billboards around the city invite you to vote for honest and progressive government. I do not think they have been honest with the people with their no-politics stand, neither do I think they are progressive in their political ideas.

If elected the candidates of the Citizens' Committee will carry into our civic government the politics of big business which is the same as it has always been, scarcity, unemployment and poverty leading to depressions and stagnation. If this policy is not changed it will lead us, sooner or later into another depression, after this war, deeper and more prolonged than any we have ever had before.

RECOGNIZE ISSUE

The C.C.F.-Labor party quite frankly recognizes that this great issue cannot be implemented by local governments at the same time there are many things that can be done within the jurisdiction of the city that will bring immense benefits to the people.

No steps are being taken by the present council to negotiate with the bond holders for refunding the city's debt at a lower interest rate.

The agreement with the Calgary Power Co. is a lobsided affair that should be revised.

We would take steps to bring lower prices to consumers of bread and milk by elimination of costly competetive duplications in distribution.

We would investigate the price of monopoly controlled commodities with a view to their reduction.

These are only some of the things that can be done if we are permitted to carry into the city council the idea that things can be changed for the better; that we need no longer have to do without so many of the things that we need.

I ask you on November 10 to vote for the C.C.F.-Labor candidates, Mr. Gregory, Alderman Ainlay and myself and for the school board Mrs. Butterworth and Mr. Thornton so that we may carry the policy of the C.C.F. into our civic government.

MRS. G. A. CLARKE, Civic-Progressive, Aldermanic: This is the best meeting we have had in this campaign but it is far from being the kind of meeting we used to have during civic election campaigns. I do not think the war is an excuse for not being interested in what is going on. I think now is the time when everyone should be interested to make sure that the better things our men are fighting for will come about.

The housing scheme mentioned has caused a lot of controversy. I think the reason the scheme was given to a company was because the company was able to get priorities. Lack of labor is mainly what has held up the work.

NOT LAUGHING MATTER

There is one more thing I must mention. Garbage dumps. Whenever I bring this up at the city council everyone laughs. I don't think this is a laughing matter. I think the open garbage dumps in this city are a menace to health. This city is large enough to have a proper incinerator to burn something else besides waste paper.

Mrs. Clarke was asked "does the city need day nurseries," by a woman in the audience. Answering, Mrs. Clarke said "there was need for day nurseries in the city, and that she favored the operation of such under the proposal made by the provincial government that the city, provincial and Dominion governments should co-operate in meeting the cost of operation.

H. D. AINLAY, C.C.F. Labor, Aldermanic: I think that the tactics of the Citizens' Committee in a recent broadcast is the height of dirty politics, the kind of politics that we want to keep out of the city hall. In that broadcast it was stated that after much persuasion a member of the C.C.F. had gone on the Citizens' Committee slate, and then claimed that it represented the C.C.F. party. He said that the Citizens' Committee was critical of the C.C.F. entering the municipal political arena, when as a matter of fact it was the cloak for the Conservative and Liberal parties. I know for a fact that the Citizen's Committee was split almost asunder by rows about Tory and Grit representation. I advocate an immediate refunding of the city's debt, extension of the utilities, lower taxation, and the institution of a municipal housing plan.

W. L. CARELESS, Labor - Progressive, Aldermanic: (E. G. Swanson spoke for Mr. Careless who was unable to attend the meeting due to a severe cold.) Mr. Swanson asked that consideration be given now to rehabilitation problems so that the men who "stormed the beaches of Dieppe would not have to storm soup kitchens when they returned from overseas."

J. M. DOUGLAS, Citizens' Committee, Aldermanic: I am surprised that Ald. Ainlay has seen fit to make charges and bitterly complain about his opponents. This is a sure sign that he feels that defeat is inevitable. He challenged anyone to show that he had used politics during his periods as alderman or mayor of the city.

(This challenge was issued following a statement by Mr. Swanson that Mr. Douglas, during his term of office, had carried out Tory principles at the behest of Lord Bennett.)

I am confident that there will not be a return to the soup kitchen era after this war. Great reserves are being built up for public works that will take care of the transition period between war and peacetime economy.

A. E. OTTEWELL, Citizens' Committee candidate for the school board was attending a meeting of the Alberta School Trustees' Association in Calgary. R. L. Sutherland, running on the same ticket for school trustee, urged Mr. Ottewell's re-election.

He said Mr. Ottewell had served on the board for 16 years and is "the most valuable man we have in my opinion."

The Role of The Communist Party

By Joseph Stalin

firm connections with the emancipation movement in the colonial and dependent countries.

INEVITABLE DEFEAT

To entrust these tasks to the old Social-Democratic parties, which rose to power during the peaceful era of parliamentarism could lead only to inevitable defeat. Obviously there was need for a new, militant party, a revolutionary party, which had the courage to plunge the proletariat into a struggle for power and yet was sufficiently experienced and flexible to bypass the hidden and submerged obstacles which lie in the path of such a course.

Without such a party it would be futile to plan the overthrow of the imperialist order and the establishment of the Dictatorship of the Proletariat.

This new party is the Party of Leninism.

What are the special requirements of this new (Communist) Party?

MUST BE VANGUARD

First of all the party must be the vanguard of the working class. It must include all the best elements of the working class, their experience, their revolutionary sincerity, their undying fidelity to the cause of the proletariat. But in order that it may be the vanguard in deed and not in words, the party must be armed with revolutionary theory. It must be familiar with the laws of the movement, with the laws of revolution. Without these it will not be in position to direct the struggle of the workers and to carry the proletariat with it.

The party must stand at the head of the working class. It must see farther than the working class; it must lead the working class and not trail behind it. Only a party which is in fact the vanguard of the proletariat and is capable of raising the masses to the class interests of the proletariat—only such a party will be capable of detaching the working class from the policies of trade unionism and of changing it into an independent political force. The (Communist) Party is the political force of the working class.

I have spoken above of the difficulties connected with the struggle of the working class, of the complications involved in such a struggle. I have spoken of strategy and tactics, of the reserves, of the manoeuvring operations, of attack and defence. These conditions are perhaps no less complicated (in the class struggle) than they are in war. Who can best interpret these conditions. Who can give a correct orientation of them to the millions of proletarians? No army at war can afford to dispense with the experience of a competent General Staff, unless, indeed, it is willing to be defeated. All the more reason therefore why the proletariat cannot carry on without the help of such a general staff, if it does not wish to be routed by its mortal enemy.

MILITARY STAFF

But where is this General Staff? Only the revolutionary party of the proletariat can serve as this General Staff. The (Communist) Party is the Military Staff of the Proletariat.

The tasks of the Party under the capitalist system are varied and difficult. The party must direct the struggle of the proletariat in very exceptional circumstances of both domestic and foreign developments. It must lead the proletariat to attack when the situation calls for attack. On the other hand, it must save the proletariat from the blows of a too powerful opponent by knowing when to order a retreat. It must bring order and discipline to the millions of unorganized workers. It must fit them for sustained and organized struggle.

The Party is the organized advance guard of the working class, but it is not the only organization of the working class. The proletariat has a great many other organizations without which it cannot lead an effective struggle with capital. They are trade unions, co-operative societies, shop and factory organizations, parliamentary fractions, women's nonpartisan organizations, the press, educational and cultural groups, youth leagues, etc. Only a small part of these adhere directly to the Communist party or form part of one of its branch organizations.

ALL INDISPENSABLE

All of these organizations are indispensable to the working class, for without them it would be difficult to maintain and consolidate the class positions of the proletariat in the diversified spheres of conflict. Without them, too, it would be impossible to temper the proletariat into a force capable of replacing the bourgeois order with a socialist order.

The question is, who is to determine the general direction, the general line, along which the work of all of these organizations is to be conducted? Where is the Central Organization which has the necessary ability, plus the experience, to lay down such a general line and to prevail upon these organizations to carry out this line in the interest of a unified direction, so that they may not be working at cross purposes?

The answer: This organization is the Party of the Proletariat—the Communist Party.

The (Communist) Party is not only the highest form of class organization of the proletariat. It is at the same time a weapon in the hands of the proletariat for the achievement of the dictatorship, where that has not yet been achieved, and for the consolidation and extension of the dictatorship, where it has already been attained.

The Proletariat needs the (Communist) Party first of all as its militant General Staff for the successful seizure of power. But it needs the party even more to hold the dictatorship, to broaden and extend it in the interest of the complete victory of socialism.

Street Railway Union Adopts "No Strike" Resolution

American Red Cross Rooms Humming With Activities As Christmas Draws Near

By JANE MEYER

With Christmas and the American Thanksgiving just around the corner, the club rooms of the American Red Cross at 9928 Jasper avenue are humming with various activities.

400 Guests Attend Banquet at Wesley

More than 400 guests attended the annual fall banquet of the Wesley United church Monday night.

The Rev. Dr. E. T. Scragg, minister of the church, was assisted in the program by William Smith, director of music for Wesley church and Chaplain James Reed Cox of the U.S.A.A.F.

Chaplain Cox, with his assistant Cpl. T. Z. Sizemore, commented on the friendly relationship that exists between Canada and the United States, and said that he believed the churches played an important part in creating better understanding between the two countries.

In a small room in the basement a group of American Women Service Group members are measuring the luscious ingredients which go into fruit cakes.

Mrs. C. H. Baldwin and Mrs. J. E. Gossett are heading the committee which will send 300 home made fruit cakes to U.S. soldiers in the Aleutians and the far north at Christmas time. The sugar, spice and candied fruit which the women will make into cakes and cookies has all been saved from their ration quotas, and they are contributing the ingredients and their time to make some holiday cheer for their soldiers who are away from home at Christmas.

Evelyn Wood and Edna White, American Red Cross workers at the centre said that they are opening their home at 10133 123 street on Christmas Day to U.S. soldiers who are in this area.

YUM-YUM

They expect to serve hot wine, turkey, cranberries, pickles, fruit salads, potato salad, potato chips, hot rolls and fruit cake. They will give presents, too, to all the American army boys who partake of their hospitality on Christmas. Members of the American Women's Service Group will help serve.

On the American Thanksgiving, which falls on Nov. 25, the centre at 9928 Jasper avenue will be the scene of a special dance.

A new painting of the month now hangs on the walls of the centre. It is a water color of the mountains near Jasper and shows Maligne Lake. It was painted by Glenna Miller, Edmonton artist, and was loaned to the American Red Cross Centre by the Edmonton Museum of Art.

Members Unanimously Agree To Do Everything Possible For Service Maintenance

A "no strike" policy was adopted by membership in the International Street Railway Trade Union No. 569 at a meeting held at the Labor Hall on Monday evening.

The meeting, under the chairmanship of J. E. Billingsley, president of the union, was attended by a large number of women conductors, this being the first time in the history of the union that women have attended such a meeting. They were welcomed by Mr. Billingsley who commented on the very favorable impression the conductorettes had made on the public patronizing the street railway system.

Mr. Billingsley stated that the International Street Railway Trade Union, No. 569 had established beyond all doubt that its membership had a definite majority in the street railway department. He recalled the vote taken by the department on Aug. 21 at which 721 workers participated, the result going seven to one in favor of the International Union.

"Our membership is proud of the fact that we are an international union, as at this time it is considered a privilege to be fighting alongside our International allies. This is no time for division in our ranks, and the door is open to anyone in the department to join the trade union. This is no time for an isolationist policy in either labor or any other field, Mr. Billingsley stated.

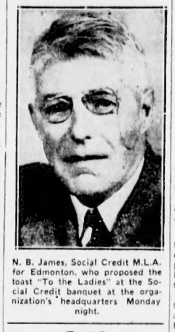
TEXT OF MOTION

Text of the resolution passed unanimously by members at the meeting reads:

"Whereas it is in the public interest that the citizens of Edmonton be fully aware of all the facts pertaining to the labor situation in the street railway department.

"Be it resolved that inasmuch as this organization has been the bargaining agent for the employees of the street railway department since 1911, a period of more than a quarter of a century, during which time our labor relationship with the city has on the whole been harmonious, we notify the city commissioners that Street Railway Trade Union No. 569 intend to loyally carry out the terms of its union agreement with the city to the utmost of its ability, and its members pledge themselves to maintain the best possible service for citizens in all branches of the city's transportation system."

To The Ladies



N. B. James, Social Credit M.L.A. for Edmonton, who proposed the toast "To the Ladies" at the Social Credit banquet at the organization's headquarters Monday night.

Social Credit Banquet Draws 250 Attendants

More than 250 persons crowded the Social Credit hall, 9974 Jasper avenue, Monday night for the supper program of the Edmonton Constituency Social Credit Association. The overflow audience necessitated two sittings for dinner.

David Duncan opened the program with a toast to His Majesty, The King. Jack Jones led the community singing, and A. V. Bourcier gave a toast to "Our Movement."

He told the gathering how the Social Credit movement started in 1933, and how prophecies were made that the government elected in August, 1935, would be out in three months. That prediction stretched to six months, and it is still in power.

He said that Alberta is the focal point of the Social Credit movement of the world.

R. D. Jorgenson, president of the association, added that everything that Mr. Bourcier had said was true.

Miss Ruth Gillis was the soloist, and she was encored four times.

TOAST TO PROVINCE

In a toast to Alberta, L. D. Byrne told the gathering that: "In my opinion Alberta is ahead of any province in Canada." He added that he believed Canada should adopt the Social Credit principles.

N. B. James, M.L.A. for Edmonton proposed toast to "The Ladies," and the response was given by Mrs. Edith H. Gostick.

Premier Ernest Manning in his address said that there were three kinds of people. First were those who opened their mouths and swallowed anything which was put into them. The next group was like the babies who don't wanted anything just opened their mouths and yelled, but took no action to achieve those things they desired. The third group was made up of mature persons who took action collectively to obtain results.

There was singing of Auld Lang Syne accompanied by Miss Betty Powers, after which the Rev. F. W. Williams spoke a prayer.

O. S. Longman, deputy minister of agriculture, who has returned from a meeting at Regina where he discussed farm problems.

Four Juveniles Are Implicated In Theft Cases

Two Edmonton juveniles were placed under arrest while a third was found to have left the city, after a break into a cabin on 142 street. Another boy, who admitted robbing his employer, will appear in juvenile court, city police stated Tuesday.

Two youths 17 years old admitted having broken into the cabin, stealing dinner plates, pots and pans, two axes, cups and saucers.

Authorities, informed that the building had been entered, investigated the homes of the youths, at 113 avenue and 133 street, where the stolen goods were found. A third boy in one of the families was said to have left the city.

A 14-year-old boy, questioned concerning the alleged theft of money from the cash register and bicycle parts from his employer, admitted having committed the crime and returned the parts, together with $8.

The boy said he had occasionally taken sums of money from the till, but was uncertain how much it amounted to. He was paid $12 a week by the firm, the police were told.

Hugh MacLachlan Dies at 75 Years

A resident of this province for 55 years, Hugh MacLachlan, of Leduc, died Tuesday morning while being taken to a city hospital. He was 75 years old.

Mr. MacLachlan taught school for 40 years and he opened the first school in Castor, in 1910. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge, and the United Church of Canada.

He is survived by his wife; three sons, A. O. MacLachlan of Edmonton, M. L. MacLachlan of Hardisty, and L. R. MacLachlan, Veterans' Guard of Canada, Kingston, Ont., and two daughters, Mrs. J. C. Ward of Edmonton and Mrs. C. J. Crooks of High River.

Howard and McBride funeral directors are in charge of arrangements which will be announced later.

Kiwanis Club In Tribute to Education Week

Education week was observed by the Edmonton Kiwanis club at its Monday meeting at the Macdonald hotel. Similar observances were held by other Kiwanis clubs across Canada. Three members, Francis G. Winspear, H. T. Griffiths and Ed McGarvey, district governor, were special speakers.

Mr. Winspear spoke on the activities of Kiwanis and told of the four major activities of the club, national service, youth service, community enterprises and public relations. The particular charge of Kiwanis clubs everywhere was the youngster, he said.

Mr. Griffiths, speaking on what Kiwanis meant to him, referred to the opportunities afforded to hear the best speakers, the association with business and professional men, the promotion of patriotism and the broadening of one's viewpoints.

NEED PATRIOTISM

Patriotism was needed; more flag-waving was necessary, he said.

Mr. McGarvey spoke of the objects of the club and said that priority should be given to human spiritual needs, rather than to material things. Human relationships, promotion of more serviceable citizenship, furthering of good will and patriotism were among other objectives of Kiwanis.

A member of the Washington Cosmopolitan Club, Capt. Baker has shown keen interest in local club affairs by making regular appearances at luncheons. He stated that Edmonton "Cosmos" proved that Canada and the United States were truly "good neighbors."

The Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION

When the war is over and travel difficulties are gone, what parts of Canada would you like to see, how do you want to travel to get there?

THE ANSWERS

FRANCIS HUTTON, housewife: I would like to travel through the mountains, go mountain climbing, and fishing. I want to visit seaport towns, as well, and I want to make the trip by car.

A. CUNNINGHAM, railroader: Until lately there haven't been many places where my pass wouldn't take me. However, neither pass or train takes you everywhere, and when these hectic days are over, I think I'd like to be able to make a flying trip into the far, far north. I don't mean Alaska, I mean hundreds of miles north of that, into the places where, because it's so darn cold, you won't find any living person!

A. R. GILBERT, visitor: I've heard a lot about Edmonton, a lot about the Alaska highway, a lot of stories about the Yukon and Alaska. This is my first here and I think its pretty busy. Perhaps after the war, when things get more settled, I'll come through again—on my way over your highway, by car.

Absorb Soldiers Into Other Units

Officers and men of the 3rd Bn. Edmonton Fusiliers were generally absorbed by other units of the Pacific Command of the Canadian Army, when the unit was recently demobilized, Lt.-Col. E. Brown, M.M., E.D., area commandant, said here Monday.

Lt.-Col. H. B. Jamieson, officer commanding the unit, has been overseas taking a training course. A few officers have gone to staff posts at Ottawa and elsewhere, but for the most part officer personnel of the unit went to other units of the Pacific Command.

The 3rd Battalion Edmonton Fusiliers came into being during the summer of 1942.

At that time danger of an enemy attack on the Pacific coast was very real and a fairly large Pacific defence army was required.

What To Do

Are children ever put in mourning on the death of a parent?

Answer—It is cuel to the child to dress him in black, and certainly can do no good to the deceased parent.

Small children may be dressed in all white, but it is a pitiful sight to see a ten-year-old in deep mourning.

Death in itself is frightening enough. But to children it is even more so than to older people, so it is up to the adults to keep up appearances. The sight of a parent or relative, prostrated by grief may make a lasting impression on a child.

Night Fighters Now Carry Searchlights

LONDON, Nov. 9.—(CP)—Some British night fighters have been equipped with powerful searchlights as an aid to hunting down and destroying German air raiders, the latest of which to be thrown against Britain is the Messerschmitt-410, similar to the R.A.F.'s famous Mosquitoes.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Family Quarrels Tear Dreams in Marriage

Husband, Wife Reveal Illusions, Suspicions, Jealousies Never Afterward Retrieved; Anger Gives Vent to Ugliness

DEAR MISS DIX: When husbands and wives quarrel don't they really tell the truth to each other? I mean, don't they really bring out all the little grudges that they have against each other and say what is actually in the back of their minds and hearts? If husbands and wives want to know how they stand with each other, let them note what each says when they have a fight. That will give them the lowdown.

G. H.

Answer: There is an old proverb that says that truth lies in the bottom of the wine glass. When people are drunk all inhibitions have been swept away and they say what they really think. The same thing is true of anger. When people lose control of their tempers they say the things that prudence, or self-interest, or even common decency makes them silent about at other times.

That is what makes a family quarrel such a devastating thing. It is because when they are angry with each other the husband and wife drag out into the open all of their disillusions, all of their suspicions and jealousies, all of their boredom. It is when they vituperate each other and call each other names and throw into each other's faces all the habits and shortcomings that have gotten upon their nerves, and openly regret their marriage.

No quarrel is spontaneous. It may come to a head suddenly and without any adequate cause, but the material with which it is made has been slowly gathering for a long time. Sometimes for years. It is the unspoken thoughts of each about the other.

After the quarrel the husband and wife may apologize and kiss and make up, but what has been said cannot be taken back. Each knows how he or she looks to the other, and something of fineness has gone out of their marriage that they can never get back again.

For the happiness of marriage depends so much upon our illusions, our beliefs that our mates do not see our faults and peculiarities, that we never lose our attractions for them, that they always see us as young and beautiful and desirable. And when in some unguarded moments of passion they tear down this house of dreams, it leaves our spirits lonely and desolate and homeless.

WIVES WORRY

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I have just been reading the letter you received that was signed "Four Army Wives" who are worrying over whether their husbands, who are in the army, are faithful to them or not. I might answer back, how do we know whether our wives are being loyal to us or not while we are away? We don't. We have to take them on faith.

While I am speaking for myself, I am also speaking for more than ninety-five per cent of the other married soldiers in the Service. I don't say that we wouldn't look at a pretty face or a nice pair of legs, but as far as being disloyal to our wives, that's an entirely different question. Dearie, you could'n't hire me to do such a thing!

I've got a little girl 18 months old. Do you think that I could go home on a furlough and let her put her arms around my neck and call me Daddy, if I were harboring a guilty conscience of having run around with some woman? I couldn't look my wife in the face, either, for she is still that cute little blond who used to live down in the next block. She's MY wife and the MOTHER of my little girl, I wouldn't let her down for anything.

So I say, my dear Army Wives, if you will have just a little more confidence and a little more faith in your soldier husbands, you will find that your faith and confidence will be completely justified.

SOLDIER.

Answer: This tribute to the high morality of the married men in our Armed Forces is backed up by a recent article in one of the magazines, written by a famous war correspondent in China, who speaks with admiration of the fact that there are very few philanderers among the air force. He says that the great majority of the men are as loyal to their wives as they expect them to be to them, and to them there is just one woman in the world who is desirable and that is the wife they have left behind them.

It is hard enough for the wives to be separated from their husbands, and it is a pity they add to their troubles by picturing their husbands as being gay Lotharios, who have forgotten the fealty they owe to them and their little children, and who are running wild with wild women.

Such is far from being the case. Perhaps the men who are living in the shadow of death are not concerned with frivolities. They are wanting to keep their slates clean. Just in case.

BORROWED

DEAR MISS DIX: Several years ago my nephew was in trouble and I borrowed money for his bond and release. My friends have been very patient and considerate concerning this financial matter, but now I would like to repay them, and that is my problem.

Should I pay back his debt entirely, or should I tell my nephew that it is his debt and that he should pay it? He knows about this loan and the people from whom I borrowed the money. He is married and has a family and is earning a fair salary.

RELATIVE.

Answer: It is certainly your nephew's obligation and you should make him assume it, not only because it is fair and just, but because it will impress upon him, as nothing else will, that as we sow, we must reap, and that for our wrongdoing we must suffer.

If you pay back all of this money, your nephew will feel that there is no use in going straight when you get him out of trouble and pay the piper for his dance.

Points For Parents

By EDYTH THOMAS WALLACE

Jack: "Going to tell your mother about what happened today?"

Bill: "Sure. I need her advice but I know she'll tell me to talk to the teacher myself. She'll think I can handle it."

Dick: "Don't tell your mother because she'll tell mine and Mum would think she had to go talk to the teacher. She makes me feel like I'm about 5 years old when she does things like that."

Parents who allow their children to grow up usually hold them, while those who do not, very often loose them.

War Kitchen

By GAYNOR MADDOX

A big breakfast is important in the war worker's day. But now that milk supplies are being restricted, you may have to make the decrease in milk (the best-known source of calcium) in the diet by using extra quantities of calcium-rich foods.

A calcium-rich breakfast is a "must" for the war worker.

Whole grain or enriched cereals and breads are good calcium foods. So are soy and wheat flour products if they contain at least 15 per cent of the soy flour. But do not make the mistake of thinking that soy flour products can take the place of whole grain foods. Both are needed nutritionally.

Here are some calcium-rich breakfast menus. Egg yolks are rich in calcium. Therefore, use them liberally in the war worker's breakfast.

MORNING MENUS

Grapefruit juice, enriched corn flakes, sliced bananas if available, milk, sugar, fried eggs and thin slices of ham, hot enriched Parkerhouse rolls, butter, coffee, milk.

Cooked wheat cereal with cooked prunes and whole milk, poached eggs, fried enriched toast, honey, coffee or milk.

Orange juice, mixed puffed cereal and bran, whole milk, sugar, hot waffles (soy flour), butter, fruit preserves, coffee or milk.

Baked apple, sausage links, sauteed left-over cooked whole wheat cereal, brown sugar, enriched toast, butter, coffee, milk.

Cranberry and orange juice, oatmeal with chopped nuts and brown sugar, top milk, enriched toast, marmalade, coffee, milk.

Stewed prunes, ready-to-eat shredded wheat, whole milk, scrambled eggs, raisin toast, butter, coffee, milk.

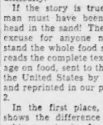
Tomorrow's Menu

(Eat the Basic 7 Every Day)

BREAKFAST: Grapefruit and prune juice, ready-to-eat whole wheat cereal, jelly omelet, enriched toast, butter, coffee, milk for children.

LUNCH: Casserole of dried lima beans in tomato sauce, raw vegetable salad, whole wheat muffins, butter, preserves, tea, milk for children.

DINNER: Kidney stew, corn meal spoon bread, buttered greens with vinegar, raw carrot sticks, fruit bowl, hot cookies, coffee, milk for children.



My Day

BY ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

HYDE PARK.—I was told a curious story yesterday. A congressional official, on being asked by a farmer in his audience what he was going to do to obtain feed for his chickens, replied that he did not know there was any trouble in obtaining feed and demanded to know why he was not informed of this difficulty.

If the story is true, the gentleman must have been burying his head in the sand! There will be no excuse for anyone not to understand the whole food situation if he reads the complete text of the message on food, sent to the congress of the United States by the president and reprinted in our papers of Nov. 2.

In the first place, the message shows the difference between the achievements in food production during this war and during the last war. In addition, it shows how many things outside the farmer's direct interests are involved in food production. There is the question of machinery, of labor, of producing the right things in the right place and distributing them after production in the proper manner.

There is the effect of the cost of living on the whole life of the nation with all its ramifications. One thing stands out—the fact that the great increases in consumption is among a group of people many of whom have had most inadequate diets in the past. The statement, that while we may have to change some of our food habits, on the whole, the nation will not be hungry, is one that I think any sensible person will agree to and stop worrying about.

I am particularly glad of the part in the message which points out that there are great numbers of our people whose wages or incomes have not risen in this period. The message says: "Obviously, too, the millions of people with incomes fixed long before the war—salaried white-collar workers, clergymen, school teachers, other state and county and city officials, policemen, firemen, clerks, old age pensioners, those living on insurance policies, dependent of men at the front—all had to be protected against the rise in the cost of living which was eating steadily into the buying power of their unchanged incomes." We need to remember this when people talk as though all our population was receiving greatly increased wages.

The danger of inflation is also pointed out and I think made extremely clear. I hope this message will be read by every citizen, since it seems to be a clear statement of facts which we all need to understand.

Opening—♠4. 9

Here is one of the hands we played in the demonstration. The question whether the opening bid should be one heart or one no trump was discussed, but regardless of the opening bid, three no trump will be the final contract; and whether it is played by North or South, a spade is the correct opening lead.

Declarer wins the first trick with the king of spades. He can count two spade tricks and two heart tricks, and if he knocks out the ace of clubs, there will be four club tricks—that's eight. It looks as if he has a sure diamond trick which is the ninth. But the trouble is: if he knocks out the ace of clubs immediately, the opponents will knock out his spade stopper. Then all they will have to do is to cash the ace of diamonds and their spade tricks to defeat the contract.

Therefore, the correct play is to try to sneak a diamond trick through quickly. The ace of diamonds should be led up to the queen. It is a pretty tough play for east to go in with the ace, but that is the only way he can defeat the contract: then he must lead another spade. Now West must be careful to unblock with the jack, keeping the seven-spot. When declarer leads a club, East wins with the ace, leads a spade, West wins with the queen and returns the seven. Thus the defense catches three spades and two aces.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

The "sissy" boy who is effeminate because of an unusual glandular pattern, is a heartache to any mother. Yet one has to remind oneself that sex is seldom absolute. Feminine and masculine characteristics cover a wide range and there are effeminate-type boys and masculine-type girls, who, despite their nearness to the middle of the scale between feminine and masculine types, are able to carry on their sex functions as men or women.

WORRIED—Is regretful for having encouraged her six-year-old boy to play with girls because they were less noisy and destructive than boys. "Now, after playing continually with them, he is so much like a girl he won't play with boys but only wants to play with dolls, dolls, dolls. Even his teacher sent me a note to say that everyone called him 'Sissy.' He doesn't seem to be bothered one but he won't play with boys. My husband and I are fearful that he is not normal. He isn't nearly as advanced as his two older brothers. What am I to do?"

By the time he is 8 he may be thoroughly disdainful of girls. Boys of his age do play indiscriminately with boys and girls. One has to guess that having had two boys you longed for a girl and so have tried to fit him into a mold more in keeping with your desires.

Unfortunately, you have been too successful. One may imagine, too, that being the youngest of three brothers your boy is somewhat imposed upon by the older ones and he's a more balanced experience in play by associating with girls who are neither belligerant nor domineering.

Time alone will tell whether his real sex pattern is more effeminate than normal. It might be harmful to him to insinuate that he isn't a real boy. Give him more opportunities to be one and expect that this will be only a temporary slant.

At the moment he is largely the result of his environmental influences for which you are to blame.

Be critical of the way he is treated by his friends, seeing that his rights are protected. Take it for granted that if left alone he will outgrow his liking for female society and develop, as do most boys, into a little hoodlum who will have none of it.

You might be better satisfied if you had a mental examination made so as to determine his intelligence quotient.

Our leaflet, "The Timid Child," may be had by sending a 4-cent, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Minute Make-Ups

Accent your best features, play them up! Play down your least attractive features. For a pretty mouth, use luscious reds for your lipstick. Learn to apply your lipstick in a perfect line. If your eyes are your best feature and your mouth is "not so good," then use less dramatic lipstic, shades and more dramatic makeup for your eyes. If your throat is good and your contour is not, then wear pearls and lovely soft necklines. Everyone will notice your best features if you accent them cleverly.

Helen Griffin Vancouver Man Married Here

At a nuptial mass performed Monday at 10 a.m. in St. Alphonsus church, Miss Helen May Griffin was married to Warrant Officer R. H. Thomsett, R.C.A.F. The Rev. Father F. C. Sullivan sang the mass. The bride is only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Griffin of this city, and W/O. Thomsett is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Thomsett of Vancouver.

Altar of the church was arranged with yellow and bronze chrysanthemums and candles.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride made a pretty picture in her floor length white gown fashioned with a net skirt appliqued with satin bows, and satin bodice. Styled on long torso lines, her gown also featured long sleeves which tapered over the wrists. Held in place by a Mary Queen of Scots headdress, her veil of white tulle fell in graceful folds to the floor and finished in a court length train. Her only piece of jewelry was a string of pearls, and she carried a shower bouquet of red roses.

MAID-OF-HONOR

Miss Kathleen Griffin, a cousin of the bride, was maid-of-honor. She chose a formal gown of turquoise blue sheer made on princess lines, with chapel veil to match. Her bouquet consisted of yellow 'mums and pink carnations.

OS. George Griffin, R.C.N.V.R., was best man, and Cyril Harrington was groomsman. Gordon Clarke showed the guests to their pews in the church.

A children's choir sang throughout, and the Rev. Sister Elfina was at the console of the organ. The Rev. Father E. Berrigan was soloist.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Griffin wore a two-piece afternoon dress of black accessories in the same shade, and pink roses on corsage. Mrs. Thomsett was smartly attired in a two-piece ensemble of gold and brown, with Talisman roses pinned at her shoulder.

RECEPTION TEA

A reception tea was held following the wedding service at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table was set with handmade ecru lace cloth, and forming the centrepiece was a three-tiered wedding cake and a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums and fern. Pink candles completed the arrangement.

Pouring tea were Mrs. Andrew Griffin, aunt of the bride, Mrs. David James, aunt of the bridegroom, from Winnipeg, and Mrs. Michael Ford.

A reception was held in the evening, at the Alberta Avenue Community hall, in complement to the newlyweds.

They will make their home in Edmonton, where the bridegroom is attached to No. 3 Recruiting Centre.

Stuffed Breast of Veal

Here is another way to have your roast and extend it, too!

Veal, like all meats, is best roasted at 325°, fat side up on a rack in an open pan. Allow 40 minutes per pound for this boned roast, 35 to 40 minutes for leg or shoulder. Over 6 lbs. allow about 5 minutes per pound less.

Spread out boned veal (butcher will usually remove bones on request, if meat is not already boned and rolled). Spread meat with stuffing, roll up tightly, skewer and tie firmly. Shape remaining stuffing in small balls . . . for cooking around the roast in final half-hour. Roast the veal as above. Carve in thin slices—a stuffing ball or two for each serving.

Dutch People of West Indies Cheer Netherlands Princess

Dropping leaflets in red-white-and-blue bearing the Princess' greetings, Princess Juliana's Royal Dutch Airlines plane en route to Paramaribo, Surinam, escorted by Dutch military planes circled over each of the Netherlands Windward Islands in the Caribbean. From the plane the populations of St. Martin, Saba, and St. Eustatius could be seen cheering and waving flags while groups were forming huge "X" and "O" for Orange signs in the national colors.

As the Princess stepped from the plane in Paramaribo she was met by Governor J. C. Kielstra while the band played the Wilhelmus, the Dutch National Anthem. Deputations of all of Surinam's polyglot population had formed up to greet the Princess on her first visit to the Netherlands territory in the western hemisphere. There were Chinese girls, bush Negroes commanded by a captain in full traditional dress, Javanese colonists in typical Javanese costume, and many others. As the Princess changed over to an open car at the gateway of the city, Creole women in the colorful native attire spread their headdress on the ground for her to walk on.

After inspecting the Honor Guard the Princess stepped out on the balcony of Government House to receive an overwhelming ovation from the enthusiastic crowd, waving flags and cheering Surinam and Orange for ever.

Open All Day Wednesday, Nov. 10th

It has been well said "Food is the mightiest weapon of them all"—and that statement comes right home to every one of us. Truly, "Food Fights for Freedom" and it's our duty to conserve food, share fairly and plan meals intelligently to help shorten the war. These are some of the ways we can bring Victory closer:

- Waste no food—clean every plate—
- Substitute plentiful for scarce foods—
- Serve the foods that are right for strength and health—
- Accept rationing cheerfully—
- Pay coupons for all rationed merchandise—
- Pay no more than the top legal prices—
- And take it for granted that we'll have to make further adjustments as Victory comes nearer!

* * *

Of course, intelligent handling of food isn't the only thing we homemakers are asked to do, to help speed the Victory. For example, we can:

Release nurses for the care of war casualties, by being prepared to take care of the sick and aged ourselves—

Make a determined drive to prevent accidents at home and on the highways—

SAVE AND SALVAGE!

Save and salvage everything that is usable. And that includes taking care of clothing, handling all mechanical equipment gently, making thrift a genuine by-word! It includes going through attics and basements and closets—passing along all unwanted material to the people or agencies who can use them.

Build morale through old-fashioned neighbourliness. Don't repeat gossip; talk constructively. Be confident!

In short, we must do everything we can to make the men and boys who are fighting for us feel that the folks at home are behind them!

Germans Expect Allies to Strike On Many Fronts

MADRID, Nov. 9—(AP)—Germans in Spain expect the next Allied moves to be launched simultaneously on several fronts, a Madrid source said last night.

The Nazis are said to believe the Allies have sufficient manpower and equipment available to battle attacks at several points at the same time.

A report from occupied France said French guerrillas are operating within 25 miles of Vichy and that some underground agents had managed to filter into the Atlantic anti-invasion zone.

Youth Takes Money; Then Leaves Home

A 14-year-old youth took $52 in cash from his mother's purse and then ran away, city police were informed Monday by the boy's father, a resident of 105 street. The boy disappeared in the middle of the night.

Carrying a suitcase, the youth was described as weighing 145 pounds, five feet 11 inches tall, with black hair, brown eyes, and was wearing a teal blue overcoat.

Premier Ernest Manning Urges Redoubled Efforts To Gain Monetary Reform

Urging Social Crediters and those interested in monetary reform to redouble their efforts to make financial freedom a second victory of the great world struggle now in progress, and predicting the spread of the Social Credit movement to all parts of Canada, Premier Ernest Manning in an address Monday, stressed the necessity for a good attendance at the forthcoming provincial convention of the Social Credit Party in Calgary early in December.

Premier Manning said that few people in the are aware of the stupendous growth of the Social Credit movement in Quebec, where membership in the organization is now numbered in hundreds of thousands.

Mr. Manning's address follows:

Arrangements have now been completed for the holding of the provincial Social Credit convention in the Palliser hotel, Calgary.

Now please take a note of these dates.

Tuesday, Dec. 7, and Wednesday, Dec. 8, the women's auxiliaries of the Social Credit League will hold their provincial convention.

This will be open to all women who are members of a Social Credit Women's auxiliary. Remember the dates December 7 and 8.

OPEN TO MEMBERS

The main provincial convention will be held on Thursday, Dec. 9 and Friday, Dec. 10. This will be open to all persons who are members in good standing in the Alberta Social Credit League. It is important that all districts should be represented on this occasion. Naturally it will not be possible for all those who would like to attend to be there —particularly from distant parts of the province. To meet the problem of expense it is suggested that in each district a few if you should get together, choose one of your number as a representative and share the cost of sending him to Calgary.

We hope it may be possible for other provinces to send visiting delegates to this convention. It would be a fine thing to have a first hand account of the progress which is being made by the Social Credit movement all across Canada.

For example how many of our people know of the powerful Social Credit organization which is being built up in Quebec? Did you know, for instance, that in that one province alone there are five thousand persons each pledged to give three hours every week to building up the Social Credit organization, and to the spreading of a knowledge and knowledge about the Social Credit movement and the true democratic way of life? Did you know that the Quebec organization can now be numbered in the hundreds of thousands? Did you know that mass meetings are being held every night of the Social Credit principles to never increasing number of persons throughout the province? If you do not suppose that all this is generally known by our people, and I am sure you will agree that it would be a splendid thing if more of their own men tell us about it first hand at the convention.

In Ontario and Manitoba also a lot of good solid groundwork is being done and it would be most interesting for our people to have first hand reports of the progress in these two provinces.

ORGANIZE IN SASK.

Our friends in Saskatchewan likewise are beginning to organize for action. I hope they will have the report at the convention as to how they are progressing. And in B.C. there are very encouraging signs that Social Credit in that province will have a good chance to win an opportunity such as they have never had in the past.

We know that we have been fighting a lone battle against the ills of our antiquated money system for so many years that we are in real danger of becoming too provincial in our outlook. We are apt to overlook the importance of the rapid growth of Social Credit support across Canada. Today people are thinking in terms of national issues and from one end of Canada to the other they are reaching out eagerly for information about Social Credit. They have lost all hope in the old parties and they s ow that the old economic order of financial dictatorship with all its inefficiency and injustice must be swept away.

Canadians, irrespective of their racial stock, are freedom loving people. They do not want to get rid of a financial dictatorship only to find themselves in the clutches of a political dictatorship. They do not want to jump out of the frying pan into the fire. Instinctively they know that there is a way which will give them the economic security they rightly desire, and at the same time guarantee for them their individual freedom in all its fullness.

More and more progressively minded but freedom loving people are coming to realize that Social Credit provides the only practicable solution. It is not surprising that the financial monopolists, the would-be political dictators and all those with a vested interest in keeping people in either economic or political bondage, are alarmed at the growing interest across the country in Social Credit. They are trying to reassure themselves by shouting that it is dead—that it is a failacy—that it has failed in Alberta and so on and so forth. But the louder they shout the more they boost it. The Social Credit tide is flowing with ever increasing strength and nothing can stop it. You cannot resist the united will of an enlightened people.

ENTERING NEW PHASE

We are entering upon a new phase in the battle for freedom from economic bondage. From a provincial organization originally confined to Alberta we are today laying the seed bed for a truly national Social Credit movement.

That is one reason why the coming provincial convention in December next month is particularly important. I hope that everyone who can possibly get there will make a point of doing so—yes, even in the face of all difficulties.

The program of proceedings, arrangements for accommodation and the rates will be announced. For full information write to The Social Credit League headquarters, 9974 Jasper avenue, Edmonton.

Here is another announcement of importance.

During November Social Credit nominating conventions will be held in a number of federal and provincial constituencies for the purpose of choosing candidates for the next provincial and federal elections. Yes, indeed elections are on their toes. They are not going to leave anything to chance. These conventions are being held in the constituencies where a Cabinet member at the present time is not a Social Crediter.

Social Crediters of Didsbury constituency met in Carstairs on Saturday. Nov. 17 commencing at 2.30 o'clock.

The date of Peace River nominating convention has been set for Tuesday, Nov. 16, at Grimshaw at 2.30 o'clock.

The Peace River federal constituency nominating convention will be held in Medicine Hat on the following Friday, Nov. 19, at 4 p.m.

The Grande Prairie constituency nominating convention will be held at Grande Prairie on Thursday, Nov. 18, at 2.30 p.m.

And the Grouard constituency nominating convention will be held in McLennan on Friday, Nov. 19 at 1.30 the same day and place as the nominating convention for the Peace River federal riding.

The central and southern constituencies which today have no Social Credit member are preparing to hold their nominating conventions in the near future. The arrangements for these will be announced at an early date. It looks as though the people in all these ridings not represented by Social Credit members at the present time are determined to do everything to make sure that they will elect a good man and a Social Crediter at the next election, both provincial and federal.

All this evidence of the enthusiasm and determination of our people should give us increased confidence as to the future of these troublous times. We all realize that we have a tough fight before us but I am confident that if we go forward courageously, trusting in God and the rightness of our cause we shall not—we cannot fail to win through to victory. Already powerful forces are beginning to come to our aid—and as the frustration becomes more critical and the issues become clearer, that support will grow in strength and we shall sweep forward to our goal of building a Christian democracy in which every man, woman and child shall enjoy the freedom and security that should be the birthright of every Canadian.

REPORTS COMPLETED

Last week we completed a series of reports on our stewardship in the constituency of Edmonton city council affairs. Your Social Credit government is determined to give you honest, efficient and good government. I assure you that we shall continue to serve you to the best of our ability.

But that is but half the task. It is important, that is true, but it is

New Committeeman To Be Appointed

The Alberta government is giving consideration to the appointment of a successor to Alfred Speakman, M.L.A., to the government post-war reconstruction committee, Mr. Speakman died suddenly last week.

An announcement will be made in the near future as to the successor.

It was pointed out that the appointment will be given more than usual consideration as Mr. Speakman was highly valued both by the government and oapposition members of the legislature as a committee member.

One official said Tuesday: "Mr. Speakman was doing a marvelous job on the committee and his death is certain to result in a serious interruption of the committee's inportant work. To find a man to fill his place needs serious consideration."

Besides heading one sub-committee, Mr. Speakman was a member of three others, finance, industry and agenda.

As the work of the committee is just getting underway it is important that a successor be named without a great deal of delay. The committee's work will not end with a progress report to the next session.

By-Election Move Remains Uncertain

Premier Ernest Manning was absent from the city Tuesday and there was as yet no definite announcement as to whether or not there would be a by-election in Calgary to fill the seat vacated by the death of the late Premier William Aberhart. Nov. 19 is the last date by which writs may be issued for a by-election under statute.

It was intimated by members attending a Social Credit Party caucus here lately there would be no by-election.

Both government and Independent Party members seem cool toward holding a bye-election, taking the view it would be a needless expense at this time.

On the other hand the C.C.F. and Labor-Progressive parties have gone on record as to name candidates. It is also thought there will be no by-election in Red Deer for the seat left vacant by the death of Alfred Speakman.

even of greater importance that we continue our efforts to bring about the reform of our monetary system which is absolutely essential if we are to successfully remove the root cause of our recurring economic ills and establish a prosperity-yielding democracy under which the vast resources of our pro ice can be developed to provide security with freedom for all.

In this struggle we have been opposed, obstructed and attacked by the powerful forces of the financial dictatorship, who are united to resist merely continue but to intensify the economic bondage which they have imposed upon mankind.

Today brave men are fighting, yes— and dying, so that we may have the opportunity to build a new post-war order of social justice. Our fight for the past eight years is their fight today. And while they are crushing the military enemies of human freedom on European battlefronts, we will be equally as resolute in overthrowing the financial enemies of human freedom on the home front.

After eight years of battling against odds we have grown in strength and we know their tactics. We have their measure so let us go forward with confidence.

The Social Credit has gripped beyond this province. It has become a national issue. Let us, then, reach out and join hands with our fellow Canadians across the dominion, and reinforced, march forward to the victorious peace without which victory in war will be an empty mockery.

To carry out this work we shall need lots of support—all the support we can get. I am sure you will not fail to do your part in this.

PLEA FOR SUPPORT

I hope we shall receive many letters and much support during this coming week to get us away to a good start. How about you and your group? How much can you do to help this vital cause along?

Where impossible areas too strongly that any action which is taken to deal with the tremendous problems we face must come out of the people themselves. It is up to every person assuming his or her full share of responsibility that we have a truly democratic functioning democratic order. That has been very plainly brought out by the English author and reformer, J. B. Priestley, in his book "Out of the People"—a book which everybody should read—he states:

"If as free men and women freely co-operating we cannot plan and then lay down the foundations of our new society, then our cause is lost indeed. But it is of course the whole argument of this book that we can and that no other kind of action will give us the society we want . . . Years ago, in the stirring days of a new world, Whitman said:

"Everything comes out of the people, everyday people, the people as you find them as it leave them; people, people, just people!"

Priestly and Whitman were right. Worthwhile action must be the outcome of the united will of an enlightened people.

Victory Loan Chairman Pays Glowing Tribute To Workers in Big Drive

With the Fifth Victory Loan over and its results most gratifying, the North Alberta organization may feel proud of its contribution to the success of the drive, H. M. E. Evans, head of the Northern Alberta committee, stated Tuesday.

Warm tribute was paid by Mr. Evans to all those who took part in the drive and who contributed to its success.

At the same time it was announced that Hardisty, Tofield, Waskatenau-Radway, Stony Plain and Barrhead were the latest rural areas to go over the top.

Arrangements are complete for the presentation of 20 Victory Bonds to lucky winners. This ceremony will take place at CJCA, Birks Building at 7.30 p.m. Wednesday. Representatives of the armed services will be on hand to assist. The bonds were donated to the Victory Loan Committee by city business men.

"More than 35,000 citizens of North Alberta have shown their determination to "Speed the Victory" by buying Fifth Victory Loan bonds. They may well feel proud of the success of the campaign," Mr. Evans said.

"The result is most gratifying in the entire North Alberta organization. The state of the country roads caused some anxious days to H. A. Craig, in charge of general sales, and his eight rural divisional organizers: W. L. Caldwell, R. H. Driscoll, Frank Pepper, J. E. Sydie, A. W. Fraser, R. P. Blackmer, J. L. Sutherland and C. L. Jackson. The success of the country units, in spite of this handicap, reflects the great credit on the unit organizers, committee men and salesmen.

REAL LEADERSHIP

"Under the inspiring leadership of R. S. Staples, chairman of the Edmonton committee—who was also vice-chairman of the Alberta special name ssection—the City of Edmonton has taken a high place in the whole of Canada in percentage of quota attained. K. P. Duggan was organizer for the city and assistant on special names. The sales in the general public in Edmonton proper, were secured by sixty trained salesmen recruited from the public and life insurance companies. A new departure this Loan was the organization of a special committee from the outlying parts of the city, under the chairmanship of Clyde Gillies.

"The campaign has made very great demands on the staffs of the banks and other financial institutions which take subscriptions and through which delivery of bonds is made. The splendid co-operation by these institutions is responsible to a large extent for the success attained.

"The most spectacular record, in comparison with previous loans, was scored by R. H. Price and his assistant, R. Spilsted and S. Nixon in the payroll savings section. With some returns still missing this section already shows a gain of nearly 50 per cent over Fourth Victory Loan. Too high praise cannot be given to the internal committees and war finance officers who conducted the canvass in Edmonton's one hundred and ninety larger firms and institutions. The control division of the railways was looked after by Paul H. Carpenter. The total given by the armed forces swelled the total of this section.

GENUINE ADVANCE

"R. M. Moore was chairman of the group payroll section—the firms with less than 25 employees—with Jack Williams as secretary. This section has shown almost as great an advance as the payroll savings section.

"A special feature of this campaign was the hut erected at the corner of 101 street and Jasper by the U.S. Army. Ingar Telmet, whose services were kindly loaned by the Hudson's Bay Company, with the Edmonton Civilian Defence Volunteer Bureau, organized the ladies in charge of the hut under the chairmanship of Mrs. G. F. Hagelstein. The staffs were supplied by various women's organizations. For the closing week of the campaign, the daily flag raising and thermometer painting ceremony was enlivened on successive days by a parade of Greek, Ukrainian, Norwegian, Polish, Chinese and Russian women in their native costumes, who sold small war bonds on their special day. Altogether over $100,000 worth of bonds were sold by the ladies in the hut.

WORK WELL DONE

"The publicity activities for North Alberta were in charge of Gordon S. Henry, vice-chairman of the provincial public relations section, with T. A. Shandro as secretary. All will agree that this part of the job has never been more effectively accomplished, thanks to the unstinted support given by the daily and weekly newspapers and by the radio stations. A daily feature was the "Victory Loan Reporter" sponsored by Edmonton's Gas Company. Special thanks are due to the corps of speakers and film operators for the meetings of employees, etc., to the advertisers who devoted their space to support the loan and to the merchants who decorated their premises.

GREAT PARADE

"On the more spectacular side, the great parade which jammed the downtown streets will be fresh in the minds of Edmonton citizens. Group Captain R. M. Smith was in general charge of this parade, which was made up of forty-seven military and civilian organizations headed by forty American jeeps with the flags of the Allied Nations. The Air Force band and the various units which attended the daily flag raising ceremony did much to keep public interest alive before the public. John Michaels organized these ceremonial parades. We are much indebted to the various armed services, the R.C.M.P. and the city police authorities and civilian organizations for their co-operation.

"As the loan exceeded all previous records here, the task of the administrative section under M. D. Parry was correspondingly increased. F. Williams, A. B. Corbett and H. F. LeMasurier headed the accounting staff which assisted in this work.

"Encouraging as is the increase in the number of buyers for this loan, we believe there are many, many more who have not yet realized their duty and their opportunity. Renewed publication can be of the greatest assistance in explaining to their friends the advantages to themselves as well as to the country of buying bonds in Canada by buying Victory Bonds."

Rye Trade Small In Winnipeg Pit

WINNIPEG, Nov. 9—(CP)—Rye trade was small today on the Winnipeg grain exchange and for most of the session futures were below the previous close. Stronger values at Chicago, however boosted values fractionally near the close with final quotations ranging ½ cent higher to unchanged. December finished at $1.14.

Light selling caused the easiness in the market earlier but when chicago took on a better tone it gave way to fair commission house buying.

Today's market news was also featured by the purchase of 500,000 bushels of wheat by the United Kingdom late yesterday and today. Most of the amount involved was the No. 1 northern grade.

Yugoslavs Warned Not to Aid Nazis

CAIRO, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, British commander-in-chief in the Middle East, last night warned Yugoslav guerilla groups which he said are "helping the Germans in their vain attempts to subdue the forces of liberation" that they would be regarded as traitors to their own people and enemies of the United Nations.

The General said he had learned that in some areas of western Yugoslavia, particularly in Dalmatia, certain men are helping the Germans and adding to this shame by claiming their actions have British approval.

Gen. Wilson's statement did not mention Gen. Draja Mihailovic, who is minister of war in the Yugoslav government and said to be commander of the Chetniks.

Calling it his "final warning," the British commander praised the Yugoslav successes against the Germans since surrender of Italy.

Mysterious Mr. X Tosses More Thousands Away

TORONTO, Nov. 9.—(CP)—The mysterious Mr. X who goes about Canada distributing cash and cheques to the surprised but acquiescent populace, is Harry F. Maclean of the Merrickville, Ont., Construction Company.

Mr. Maclean has plenty of money and gives it away as a hobby.

He prowled about the Christie Street Military hospital in Toronto recently distributing hundred-dollar bills.

Saturday in Halifax he gave a cheque for $2,000 to the baby son of a taxi driver, tossed another $1,000 at a hotel switchboard girl for distribution among the girl bell-hops, and casually handed out smaller notes to almost everyone he met.

Eastern Advertising Men Honored

In recognition of their contribution to the advancement of the advertising profession, the Association of Canadian Advertisers, at its 29th annual meeting, held at Toronto, awarded silver medals to the above: Left to right, they are: Morgan Eastman, vice-president of McConnell, Eastman and Co., Ltd.; H. H. Rimmer, advertising manager, Canadian General Electric Co. and William Wallace, advertising manager, The Toronto Daily Star.

City Is Ready For Polling in Annual Election

Edmonton will go to the polls Wednesday to elect a mayor, five aldermen, and four public school trustees. The polls will open at 9 a.m. and will close at 8 p.m. It is anticipated that the results of the mayoralty contest will be known by 9:30 p.m.

Announcement was made Tuesday by Thomas Walker, city assessor, that arrangements had been made to maintain a service in the assessor's office for persons desiring information as to where they should vote. This service will be continued until the polls close at 8 p.m.

Alfred Russell, returning officer and city clerk, stated Tuesday that everything was in readiness for the taking of the vote. Deputy returning officers have taken out their ballot boxes, and poll clerks have been assigned to the polling sub-divisions.

Interest in the election seemed to be slight judging by the attendance at the city-sponsored meetings. However, the total vote cast at the advance poll would indicate that a larger vote will be cast this year than in 1943. The total of ballots cast at the advance poll this year was 39, and last year the vote was only 18.

Mayor John W. Fry is seeking re-election for his seventh consecutive term of office as an Independent, and is opposed by T. J. Cairns, postal worker, who is running also as an Independent.

OTHERS RUNNING

Aldermanic candidates have been entered by four municipal political groups, the Citizens' Committee, C.C.F.-Labor Party, Civic Progressive Association and the Labor-Progressive Party.

Representing the Citizens' Committee are J. M. Douglas and C. E. Gariepy, each seeking re-election; R. Winslow Hamilton, M. M. Downey, who served for many years on the public school board, and Vern A. Porter.

The C.C.F.-Labor candidates for aldermen are: H. D. Ainlay, seeking re-election; J. H. Dowler, and A. P. Gregory.

On the Civic Progressive slate Guy Patterson, K.C., and Mrs. G. A. Clarke are seeking re-election to the aldermanic board, and John Guild. W. L. Careless is seeking election to this board under the auspices of the Labor-Progressive Party.

FOR SCHOOL BOARD

The candidates for the public school board are:

Citizens' Committee, A. E. Ottewell, seeking re-election; Frank J. Newson; R. A. Robertson, and R. L. Sutherland, also seeking re-election.

C.C.F.-Labor: Mrs. Mary Butterworth and William H. Thornton.

Civic Progressive Association, Wellesley Fraser.

City of Kassel Is Knocked Out As War Centre

LONDON, Nov. 9.—(CP)—Kassel has ceased to exist as part of the Nazi war industry "for some time at least," the air ministry said last night after studying new reconnaissance photographs of the heavily bombed Ruhr industrial city of 200,000 persons.

All but 15 of the 315 acres in the built-up sections of the city are devastated and nearly half of the rest of the city, excluding the suburbs, is destroyed, the ministry said commenting on pictures taken following Allied raids Oct. 4 and Oct. 22. The Oct. 22 raids caused fires which burned for a week. Kassel has been bombed heavily five times in the last six months.

The pictures revealed that 50 factories, some of which the Germans had given the highest priority ratings, were either destroyed or badly damaged. Among them were three plants of Henschel and Sohn, Germany's largest single producer of locomotives since the destruction of the Krupp plants at Essen. The three factories accounted for one-third of Germany's locomotive output as well as a large number of armored fighting vehicles and trucks.

Exceptional Advertising Services Bring Rewards Of Medals and Citations

Unusual service to advertising under war conditions was responsible for an increase in the number of awards of the Association of Canadian Advertisers Inc. from four to nine medals and citations. They were made at the 29th annual convention in Toronto.

Silver medal, media division: William Wallace, advertising manager, The Toronto Daily Star, first Canadian president of the Newspaper Advertising Executives' association, an international body, a prime mover in negotiations which set up the Canadian government as national advertisers.

A. B. Stapleton, art director, Rolph-Clark-Stone Ltd., Toronto, for setting a new standard in modern poster art.

James Allard, public relations director, Radio Station CJCA, Edmonton.

He has helped on Victory Loan rallies, Boards of Trade, is past president of the Advertising Club of Ottawa newly elected Canadian vice-president of the Direct Mail Advertising Association of Canada.

Life Insurance Firms Subscribe Big Sum to Loan

WINNIPEG, Nov. 9—Reflecting the determination of their policyholders to Speed the Victory, life insurance companies in Canada subscribed a record total of 170 million dollars to the Fifth Victory Loan. This brings the total life insurance investments in fighting dollars since the war began to over 775 million dollars—an average of nearly $200 for every insured person in the Dominion.

"As in every other war loan," H. W. Manning, president of the Canadian Life Insurance Officers' Association, said today, "life insurance companies, expressing the will of their millions of policyholders in Canada, again led all business groups in subscriptions to the record loan that has just been so successfully put over the top.

"In the two Victory Loans this year," Mr. Manning continued, "these companies have invested 335 million dollars, a sum that will exceed their total premium income from their policyholders during the whole of 1943 by more than 16 per cent.

SALES STAFFS HELP

"Not only have the life insurance companies contributed so magnificently on their policyholders' account to back up Canada's fighting forces and bring victory appreciably nearer, but, as in other loan drives, the two thousand experienced life insurance salesmen and saleswomen, made available to the government for canvassing, have been instrumental in securing many additional millions of subscriptions. In the Spring loan this year they were credited with over 65 million dollars. In this last loan the amount will not be less."

Reverting to the total of over 775 million dollars of war loan investments by the life companies, Mr. Manning concluded: "This huge sum of people's savings has had a three-fold and vital significance in Canadian affairs. Primarily it has backed our fighting men with munitions and equipment, ships and guns, planes and tanks, to hasten the unconditional surrender of our enemies. Secondly, these hundreds of millions of dollars saved out of individual incomes through the exercise of personal thrift and economy, have been a powerful backlog against inflation. Finally, these many millions constitute a great financial reservoir for post-war and future emergencies. They are actually dollars held in reserve for the protection of our policyholders and their beneficiaries, dollars which form part of the total estate of over two and a quarter billions which these policyholders own in life insurance today.

A NATION OF 'CAPITALISTS'

"Capital . . . is simply . . . 'saved labour'. A man doesn't spend all he earns, and capital, which always starts in a small way, comes into being."

"Anyone who has a savings account or owns a home, a share or a bond, or a life insurance policy, is a capitalist, and a better citizen for it, since he has a stake in the country . . . we are a nation of 'capitalists' . . ."

"We provide for those who bring their investments to us for management, a helpful service in safeguarding for them the fruits of their labour during their lifetime, and a sound administration of their estates after their deaths, to best assure the security of their dependants."

CHAPTER XXIX

"YOU never told me how you got your stuff," Imhoff shouted to Enzell, to make himself heard over the roar of the engines. Stein had been tied up with leftover strips of Schroeder's bed sheet, which Pat had brought in her raincoat pockets, and everyone had settled down as comfortably as possible. "Let's have the yarn."

"Too much noise," protested Enzell.

"What's the matter with the intercom?" said Rick.

The suggestion was adopted and all were soon fitted out.

Enzell was silent a moment.

"Berlinw as where I first got a hint of the business. I went there on quite another trail, some U-boat stuff—which I never got—and took a job as a waiter in the Adlon.

"One day I was in a suite to pick up a tray. The people had already gone out. I went to the open window to shake the tablecloth and heard voices in the next room.

"A woman was lamenting what would be 'Adi's' fate at the hands of the enemy. Now, nobody in Germany calls Hitler 'Adi' but real intimates, particularly his old friends of the early days.

"'Frieda!' the man boomed. 'You upset yourself unnecessrily, my dear. Adi's very clever. And he always looks ahead. I happen to know he has in the matter. He will never be taken—alive or dead.'

"'But how in the world—' she began.

"Here he shut her up. 'No questions, Frieda! Even to you I must say nothing further. And you'll keep to yourself what I've said.'

"I listened a bit more, but he changed the subject very firmly.

"When I checked up on that suite, I found it was occupied by a certain Nazi and his wife, both old friends of Hitler's and still close to him, though the man was not prominent in the party now, having dropped politics for plane manufacturing.

"I quit the Adlon and went to Dresden, where our friend ran a big factory. I kept my eye on his plant and found he was shipping certain unusual-looking plane parts to a small assembly plant in Chemnitz. Why? He had his own assembly lines.

"I made Chemnitz my next stop. The plant was significantly well guarded but there are ways and means when you have a well-filled pocketbook and before long I managed to see that a really huge plane of most unusual type was being assembled there.

"I looked around for a worker I could pump and, after some saloon study, picked a likely subject. A small, dark, thin, nervous man about 35 with a lot of inhibited self-importance in him wanting an outlet. Kind that unbuttons when drunk. I got to work on him. The best thing he let out was that some Nazi Great Man was coming to see the plane soon.

"This sounded like a lead and I kept watch.

"One night a big limousine without escort drove up outside the plant. A man got out, then two others. I couldn't see faces but that voice! That walk! There is only one Hitler, thank God!

"The three men entered the plant and I did some hard thinking, fast. The car was not Hitler's official one, I knew, and there was no entourage, no guards! This was an unexpected windfall, although not surprising in the light of future events. The chauffeur drove off a little way, then got out to stretch his legs. He walked around to the front of the building and fell into conversation with the sentry. There was my chance! I idled past the car; then, making sure I wasn't observed, picked the simple lock on the luggage compartment with a bit of wire I carry for the purpose. It was the work of a minute to lift the lid, climb in and close it down over me. Those top-flight Nazis were sure to talk when they left the factory and now I had a front-row seat.

"Everything went like clockwork. Once in the car and on their way again, did they talk!

"Luck had been with me so far —but now it broke. A blow-out! I was out of that luggage place and down the road before the chauffeur could leave the car. But of course the setup in the rear gave the show away.

"They almost got me in Stuttgart. They had my description from people in Chemnitz, where a fast check probably showed me as the only missing person. And they thought I'd head for the frontier as I did.

"The close call in Stuttgart made me change plans. With the frontier hermetically sealed to me I was sewed up in Germany, for a while anyhow. So I sent out my message through the Dutchmen.

"In Stuttgart I wrote and mailed the Zellen letter and also, in case one of my messages got into Gestapo hands, a letter to one Stolz in Bingen, in a meaningless code. Then I broke north, pulling up in Frankfort, sneaked out to Wiesbaden to park my stuff in the library there and mail the Gehrig letter. Then back to Frankfort to go to earth in the jail.

"The rest of the story you know," Enzell concluded matter-of-factly.

The little audience of three which had listened quietly without interruption now burst into excited comment. Rick's voice shrilled somewhat pluhtively.

"I say," he protested, "I catch the drift of most of what's been afoot but there's one thing everybody but me seems to be in the know about. What is this 'stuff' of yours anyway, Enzell—or shouldn't I ask?"

CURIOUS WORLD

McCoy Health Service

About this time of year many people are afflicted with painful and unsightly skin eruption due to having come in contact with the poison oak or ivy plant. Actual contact with the plant is not necessary in order to become affected, and on the other hand, those who are not susceptible to the poisoning, may rub the leaves into the skin, or even chew them, without any symptoms whatever resulting. Until a few years ago the poison ivy plant was used medicinally, but it has fallen into disuse as its value is doubtful.

Many a vacation or a week-end has been ruined by contact with this vine, and people should learn to recognize it and avoid it, since the majority of those affected come in actual contact with it. The plant has green flowers, cream-colored fruit, and the leaves are typically trifoliate or three pointed.

The portions of the skin which have been exposed to the plant are covered with vesicles and blebs, and this is usually accompanied by intense discomfort, itching, burning and swelling. Some cases are so severe that the patient is compelled to go to bed. There may be constitutional symptoms such as cramps and pains and even delirium. Fever may be present also, and the poisoning may lower the resistance to such a serious extent that the patient may be subject to invasion by some other disease. Although poison ivy poisoning is usually considered lightly, it is a very serious discomfort for the patient and is no joking matter.

It is possible to raise the resistance of the body so that those formerly susceptible to the poisoning may come into actual contact with the vine and not become affected. This may be accomplished by cleansing the body house by means of a cleansing diet and other measures which will build bodily resistance against not only the poison ivy, but many of the infections and disorders which may attack those with lowered resistance.

The avoidance of excesses of starchy foods, restriction of sugar intake and reduction generally of the carbohydrates will assist greatly toward this end, and of course all normal avenues of elimination should be in perfect funetion. This skin should be kept clean so that body poisons may escape, and the bowels should be kept open, by the use of the plain warm water enema if necessary.

All questions regarding health and diet will be answered. Large stamped, self addressed envelope must be enclosed. Write on one side of paper only. Letters must not exceed 150 words. Address McCoy Health Service, The McCoy Building, 1151 West 6th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Debunker

Thousands of tourists in Ireland return home and say they kissed the "Blarney stone." The truth is they kissed nothing but an ordinary stone, and did not even see the original "Blarney stone," in most cases, says Prof. Nathan H. Dole of London. The real "Blarney stone" is a block bearing the name of the founder of Blarney Castle and dated 1446, is built into the outside of the keep, about twenty feet from the top, and access to it is almost impossible. An imitation of it has been placed inside the battlements, where it can be easily reached, and credulous travellers kiss it thousands of times each year. For those who know the truth, and insist on kissing the real Blarney stone there is still another imitation which can be reached by hanging over the edge, head downward. The date on it, however, is 1703.

District News in Brief

Clearview Farmer Leaving For Coast

RED DEER.— C. E. Doupe, farmer of the Clearview district, who is leaving the farm and going to the coast for the winter, was guest of honor at a banquet at the Buffalo hotel on Tuesday evening. Thirty-three of his friends attended. G. K. Shane, president of the Central Alberta Dairy Pool, was chairman. Appreciation of Mr. Doupe's valuable work was expressed by Mayor E. S. Hogg on behalf of the city of Red Deer; by R. A. VanSlyke for the U.F.A. local, of which Mr. Doupe was president for 10 years; G. H. England, for the Consumers' Co-Operative, and James Cruikshank for Clearview neighbors.

F. A. Dowler, who is in charge of the Red Deer office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, has been appointed rentals appraiser for Red Deer.

A special course in operative X-ray technique at the Red Deer Municipal Hospital this week is being attended by 16 persons from outside centres.

Frank Coulson of Edmonton was here recently and met several Red Deer business men in connection with his lease of the Red Deer arna. As a result Mr. Coulson has assigned the lease for one year to a committee of his creditors. The lease has two more years to run. Hawton Hicks is chairman of the committee which will handle the rink this winter with L. W. Askin as secretary-treasurer. A. S. Shaw and Harry Brown will be in charge of the arena and O. Olsen will be icemaker.

Coulson first leased the rink from the Red Deer Arena Company for the season of 1941-42. Previous to that the company had operated it for the shareholders. After taking over the rink Coulson made extensive alterations to the plant to increase the seating capacity to more than 2,000 and also made other improvements.

To him goes credit for introducing senior hockey here. His Buffaloes played in the A.B.C. Senior League that season and hockey fans in these parts saw the best hockey they had ever seen here. Last winter the armed forces took over senior hockey in the province and the arena was the home ice of the A20 Red Deer Army sextet. The A20 team, with a much stronger lineup, will play home games at the arena again this winter and increased support is looked for.

There was a good attendance of members of the C.C.F. executive for the Red Deer Dominion riding at a meeting held here in the Orange Hall. John E. Lundberg, Eckville, presided. Elmer E. Roper, M.L.A., Edmonton, and P. N. R. Morrison, organizer for the constituency, spoke. Plans were drawn up for more organization work and for the calling of a nominating convention at Red Deer on Dec. 4.

Have Little Coal At Rocky Mountain

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE— The coal situation is serious here, orders given six months ago could not be filled by dealers, not a pound of coal in town Tuesday. There is very little wood, but some has been cut out in the bush which the wood dealer is trucking in, but this will not be enough for more than a few weeks, and is not any help for those using furnaces.

Business places report that they have enough coal and wood for a month, if the fine weather holds, barely a week's supply if it turns cold and stormy. Hospital has a month's supply, churches almost none, but they can use wood that farmers close in will bring in, if churches are closed during the week.

The town school has a year's supply in the basement but will have to share this with the hospital if none comes in before hospital supply is exhausted.

There are 85 schools in school division likely to close. Two closed Tuesday for lack of fuel, 40 more will have to be closed next week if no coal comes in by then. Trustees ordered year's supply last March, but only got a quarter of the order.

Ten schools in bush area have wood for a week or two and parents in these districts will cut wood to keep schools open if necessary, but other schools are too far from bush to do this.

Places where stokers are used are in a bad way, as a stoker furnace is useless without coal. This coal here comes from Saunders, Alexo and Nordegg. There are four sawdust burners in town that get their sawdust from mills close by. There are huge piles of sawdust out in the bush at old mill sites, but no roads in to some and poor roads to others, besides, sawdust burners cannot be bought and installed now. Almost no stoves, new or second-hand, on market in town.

The farmers will not suffer as they can go out and cut wood if they have to, but most of them are so busy with other work that they cannot spare the time, if other fuel can be had.
